Granted immunity, Mrs. Brimberry testifies on thefts

By JUDY TAPLIN

Janice Brimberry is a small woman, attractive, with ruffled-up blonde hair. Friday on the witness stand she was wearing a two-piece white suit with matching white pumps.

She was testifying because the federal government granted her immunity from prosecution in exchange for truthful information about the Stix and Co. brokerage scandal.

Her grant of immunity was disclosed in cross-examination Friday by Boston attorney F. Lee Bailey, defense counsel for Collinsville attorney James Massa. Massa, the former chairman of Stix, and Duane Skinner, an accountant and former Pontoon Beach trustee, are charged in a conspiracy to steal $16 million from the brokerage. Their trial began Wednesday in U.S. Eastern District Court of Missouri.

One other defendant has been convicted and two have entered guilty pleas. Yet to come to trial is Mrs. Brimberry's husband Tom, the former senior vice president of Stix & Co.

It was learned last week that Mrs. Brimberry had admitted her own role in the looting of Stix, and would testify as a government witness.

Mrs. Brimberry has not been charged in the case. After almost a day and a half of testimony by Mrs. Brimberry, the proceedings were adjourned at noon Friday by U.S. District Judge John Nangle and will not resume until this Thursday, April 14.

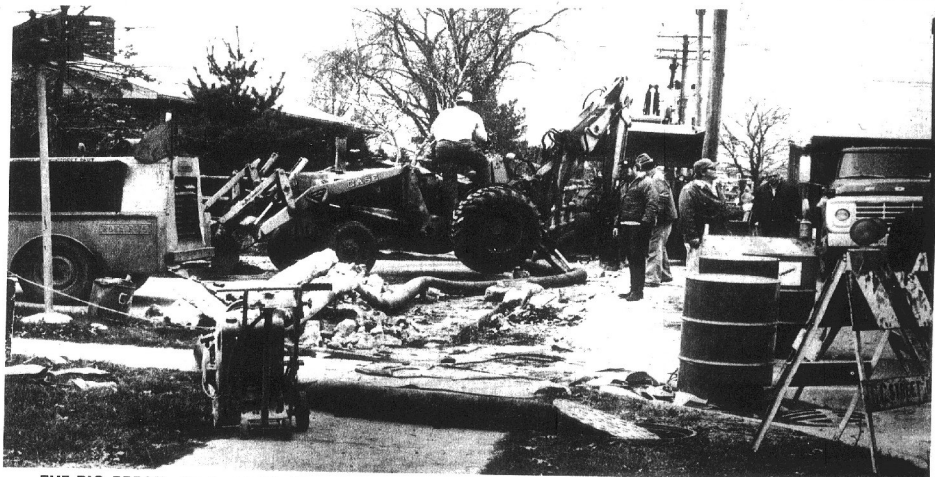

Brimberry is in jail, awaiting trial in both Missouri and Illinois. He implicated Massa, Skinner and others in the scandal after learning that the looting had been discovered by authorities.

Brimberry was to be charged on one minor tax count in exchange for his help. But he was later charged with lying to a federal grand jury.

Friday, Mrs. Brimberry denied under cross-examination by Bailey that she and her husband had decided to say Massa was the person behind the whole scheme.

She said her brother, Arthur Miller Jr. of Granite City, and Sally and Jerry Maers of Madison knew of what was happening with 10 customer accounts

THE BIG BREAK. The Granite City Street Department crew was out in full force Thursday and Friday to repair the biggest sewer break, thus far, in the system. The break is at the Fehling Road curve. Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield, walking next to the truck at the right, said that personnel from the department, including himself, were called to the scene before the break was discovered on a report that one of the lift stations was running slow. Because the department was aware of a problem, Warfield said, they were able to move in quickly to reroute sewage through the area. The break occurred at a point where several lift stations meet, he said.

County sewer link for Gaslight Walk sought

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

A nearly disastrous situation at the sewage lagoon in the Gaslight Walk area of Pontoon Beach has prompted an agreement to tap that area into the county sanitary sewer system. Representatives of the Madison County Sanitary Sewers for Special Service Area Number One, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and Granite Investment Co., owner of the lagoon, met Thursday at the IEPA office in Collinsville to consider the agreement, which is subject to county board approval at the April 20 meeting.

The sewer committee signed an emergency agreement with Jim Green, a representative of the Granite Investment Co., to pump the lagoon, after receiving word that it could flood six years ago, the lagoon broke and sent raw sewage into the yards of nearby mobile homes.

Futch said the company still will be responsible for maintaining the lagoon and the sewer system, according to the tap-on agreement.

A three-inch service area pump has been operating at the site since last Tuesday at 2 p.m. The agreement was made retroactive so the lagoon owners will pay the regular user rate from the time the pump was turned on, Futch noted.

Since pumping started, water in the lagoon has been decreased considerably, although Futch had predicted that, at best, the service area could only guarantee that the level could be kept equal. Because it did not rain any appreciable amount Thursday and during the day Friday, pumping was more effective, it was indicated. The also lagoon survived a brief downpour Friday night, possibly due to the lowered water level.

Instead of using a water meter system that measures the amount of water pumped through the service area pipes, the Gaslight Walk agreement calls for flow metering. Futch said that the amount of flow channeled through the pipes will be monitored, according to the agreement.

He added that all those present at the meeting agreed to the tap-on plan. Assistant State's Attorney Marshall

"Zeke" Smith also represented the service area, with Green and Larry Burton representing Granite Investment Co. IEPA officials were involved because that agency has jurisdiction over the county system.

Smith indicated last week that he was upset with the IEPA because the service area has sought for a long time to have the Gaslight Walk area tapped into the county system, but the agency did not pursue the matter.

The county board on April 20 is expected to approve the agreement which will connect the Gaslight Walk sewers into the county sewer system.

PUMPING CONTINUES at the sewage lagoon located in the Gaslight Walk area to keep the waters below flood level. An agreement was reached Thursday to hook the area on to the county system, subject to county board approval April 20.

City, park, village election Tuesday

Quad-City area voters, with the exception of a few residents of unincorporated precincts, will go to the polls Tuesday to pick candidates for city council, park boards and village trustees.

In Granite City, Aldermen Everett Morten of the First Ward, Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward, Paul Fisk of the Third Ward and Michael Modrowski of the Seventh Ward are unopposed in their bids for re-election.

City aldermanic races are in the Fourth Ward, where incumbent Warren Decatur faces stiff competition from Phillip Miller. In the Fifth Ward, incumbent Lloyd Bailey faces La Verna Corbett and Barbara Elmore, and in the Sixth Ward, Walter Milton, the incumbent, is opposed by Ross Halbrook and Woodrow "Woody" Moad.

Granite City's superintendent of streets, Mac Warfield, is unopposed in his bid for re-election.

In Madison, only one of the aldermen will sweep in unopposed, Donald Garrett in the new Fourth Ward. Lively competition is being offered in the other three wards, which have new boundaries under redistricting this year. In Madison's First Ward, incumbent Paul Ashford is opposed by Alfred Endicott and Frank Marsala. In the Second Ward, Robert Grieve, who has the administration's backing, is opposed by Thomas George and James Riskovsky.

In Madison's Third Ward, William Gushoff, the incumbent, is opposed by Walter F. "Mick" Strange.

Venice voters will pick aldermen in four wards. Phillip Daniels, First Ward alderman, is challenged by Willie Johnson. Second Ward Alderman George Mangiaracino faces opposition from Richard King. Third Ward Alderman George Lewis is unopposed and Fourth Ward Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. is challenged by Sameul Hilton.

Pontoon Beach Village Board President Paul Bennett faces the only competition in that race for four village leaders. Bennett is opposed by Don A. Watson. Village Clerk Mary Bennett is unopposed in her bid for re-election, as are three incumbent trustees seeking votes of confidence, Glen Wilson, Loren Madison and Keith Biggs.

In park races, five candidates seek two Granite City Park District six-year seats. Incumbents are John "Jeff" Worthen and Barry Loman. Challengers are Gary Grandier and a husband and wife team, Jerry and Augusta Bristol.

Two candidates are seeking a two-year unexpired term on the Granite City Park Board. Richard Reinhardt and Nancy Sanders.

In the Venice Park District, incumbent Earl Hogan faces challenger

Thomas Scaturro for one six-year term and Calvin Ratliff is unopposed for an unexpired four-year term.

Granite City voters also will be asked to vote yes or no on an advisory referendum whether the Illinois Commerce Commission should be changed from an appointed body to an elected commission and Venice Park District voters will be asked to approve a $200,000 bond issue for a water slide, bumper boats, concession stand and restroom facilities in Lee Park. The bonds also would be used for rehabilitation of the tennis courts, playground area and ballpark diamond and to defray the cost of a general upgrading of the park.

Polls will be open from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday for voting. A list of polling places appears in today's issue.

Candidates cite need for economic stimulus

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Granite City's Democratic committee heard candidates advocate industrial growth Thursday night, and mapped plans to urge "yes" votes in tomorrow's advisory referendum on an elected Illinois Commerce Commission.

Nearly all who spoke saw an overriding need for some type of economic stimulus and for employment growth in the Granite City area.

There were numerous expressions of intent to try to aid existing firms and also to attract new businesses and jobs.

With more than 100 persons present, Granite City Democratic Chairman William "Bill" Harrison introduced election contenders and called for a heavy vote in favor of electing rather

Interest withholding exemptions available

Ira Loeb, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, announced that Form W-6, Certificate of Exemption from withholding on interest and dividends is now available at local IRS offices. Beginning July 1, 1983, payers of interest and dividends must withhold 10 percent of each payment for federal income tax unless taxpayers meet certain qualifications and file certificates of exemptions with the payer.

Persons may be eligible for exemption if they file a certificate of exemption and meet any of the following requirements:

— The total federal income tax liability in 1982 was less than $600, or less than $1,000 for a couple filing a joint return.

— A person is 65 or older and the 1982 tax liability was less than $1,500, or less than $2,500 for a couple filing a joint return.

— The saver was not required to file an income tax return for 1982.

Persons who receive interest or dividends from more than one payer, the IRS adds, must file a Form W-6 with each payer. Those with more than one account with the same payer, should ask the payer whether they need to file a separate certificate for each account.

Form W-6 may be obtained from the payer or from a local IRS office. Persons may also request the form from IRS by calling, toll-free, 1-800-424-1040.

Calling Card phone service has begun

Illinois Bell customers in this area now may make credit card telephone calls without assistance from an operator due to new equipment which went into operation last week.

Calling Card Service allows customers to complete their calls more quickly and save money," Helen Burner, Illinois Bell manager, said.

Burner said that callers will continue to dial "zero" plus the seven or ten digit number as they have in the past. But instead of giving the credit card number to an operator, they will hear a tone and may then enter their calling card number on the Touch-Tone pad.

According to Mrs. Burner, if no number is entered, an operator will come on the line to assist the caller.

On station-to-station interstate calls, customers using the new system will average savings ranging from 15 cents to 50 cents, depending on the distance of the call, according to Mrs. Burner. On calls within Illinois, Calling Card Service calls are 40 cents less than rates for third-number billed calls and for collect calls.

"We encourage our customers to take advantage of the savings that are possible with this new system," said Mrs. Burner. "When it's not possible to direct-dial your own calls, this is the least expensive option available," she added.

Telephone customers can order a Calling Card free of charge by calling an Illinois Bell Service Representative.

Calling Card service is available for both residence and business customers whose phones are equipped with Touch-Tone service. Callers without Touch-Tone service can continue to place "Zero-Plus" Calling Card Service calls through the operator and receive the reduced charge for Calling Card Calls.

Almost 70 percent of Illinois Bell customers have Touch-Tone service. All Illinois Bell public coin phones are equipped with Touch-Tone service.

"Calling Card Service will help us reduce fraud," Mrs. Burner said. "Once the customer has entered his Calling Card number, a computer verifies that it is a valid number. If the Calling Card number cannot be verified, the call is not completed."

Calling Card Service was introduced in the St. Louis area in September, 1981. In Illinois, the service began June 14 for customers in Northern Illinois, and the E. St. Louis center culover, which includes a great deal of Southern Illinois, brings all of this state into the system.

Calling Card Service is expected to be available nationwide by the end of 1983.

Interested persons may apply for a Calling Card by calling toll-free 1-800-642-4157.

Six say that Gushleff deserves re-election

To the Editor:

We, the undersigned voters of the Third Ward, city of Madison, believe that Bill Gushleff deserves re-election as our alderman.

Because of his ability and hard work, he has earned the respect and support of his constituents. He has consistently worked hard to bring about the many positive changes that are occurring in the City of Madison.

As chairman of the ordinance committee and a member of the finance committee, he has worked together with other city officials to bring about the following positive benefits to the city, today and in the future:

The Mini-mall shopping area; city-owned ambulance service; for economic self-pickup service; and a promise not to tax future services; implementation of a city-wide alarm system; implementation of a cable TV system; balanced budget.

We need people of Alderman Gushleff's abilities on the city council. We urge everyone in Ward Three to vote for his re-election on Tuesday, April 12.

Feels Moad deserves election in Sixth Ward

To the Editor:

We, the voters in the Sixth Ward, have a chance to elect a man who is for the people. He is a man that is well known in our ward, not because it is an election year, but because he has always been involved with the people of our ward.

He has represented us in the past as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, as president of the Granite City Democratic Club, as precinct committeeman for the Sixth Ward, and has been involved in the mental patient PTA and the Cub Scouts.

Through these involvements, he has become aware of the needs of the people in our community and the Sixth Ward.

He is the kind of man that takes his commitments very seriously, and will do the best job possible for all.

So, as a group of citizens who are tired of seeing what is happening in our city and our ward, we ask that on April 12, you get out and vote for Woody Moad. Let's be united for the betterment of our city.

Charges result from mishap at 30th-Madison

Arriving at the scene of a two-vehicle accident on Madison Avenue at 30th Street at 3:45 p.m. Friday, officers found the driver of one car lying unconscious on the front seat with a loaded shotgun laying in his lap.

Initially, police said, it could not be determined whether the driver, identified as William A. Krug, 48, of 37 Moorland Drive, had been injured in the crash or had been shot, as blood was visible on his face and the car doors were locked, preventing immediate access.

When an officer believed he detected the odor of gunpowder and a hand movement was noticed near the weapon's trigger, it was decided to break a window to enter Krug's auto, reports state.

Krug, however, had been shot, but had sustained injuries in the accident.

First aid was administered by Granite City emergency medical technicians prior to Krug's being taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

A 16-gauge shotgun with two live shells in the magazine was recovered from the man's auto, along with a bottle of bourbon found on the vehicle's front floorboard, it was alleged.

The accident is believed to have occurred when Krug's vehicle, headed north on Madison Avenue, turned left onto 30th Street in front of a southbound auto driven by June E. McClain of University City, Mo.

Mrs. McClain also suffered an injury.

Krug was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, unlawful use of a weapon, driving while his license was suspended, transporting alcohol and failing to yield the right-of-way on a left turn.

He was admitted to the medical center for treatment.

CATHOLICS TO MEET

Southern Illinois Divorced and Separated Catholics will meet Friday, April 15, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Boniface Eckhard Hall in Edwardsville. Joe Munshaw of the communications department of SIUE will be the speaker. Newcomers are welcome to attend.

Deputy tries to aid man in lot

Granite City police responded to a call from an off-duty Madison County sheriff deputy at 2:57 a.m. Saturday when the latter reported having a man in his custody in the parking lot at Charlie's Restaurant, 3120 Namecki Road.

The deputy alleged seeing Lacy W. Milton, 50, of 4364 Highway 162 trying to get in to an auto. He offered to take Milton home, so he wouldn't drive the vehicle, the deputy said, but then alleged seeing a revolver on the front floorboard of the car.

The deputy took possession of the weapon and unloaded four live rounds of ammunition from the gun before calling local police, it was alleged.

Milton was taken to police headquarters along with two bank bags and a brown paper sack containing currency and rolled coins. He was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and was released to the custody of a friend after posting $102 cash bail.

FINED FOR BURGLARY

For a burglary Jan. 9 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Thomas Laun, 26, Peoria, has been placed on four years of probation. Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill received a guilty plea March 10. On a second count of burglary at SIUE, he received probation and was fined $300 and $30 costs.

Madison schools begin childhood screening

Madison Public Schools will conduct its annual screening of 3-, 4- and 5-year-old children April 26, 27 and 28, began to take appointments today and will continue through April 22, from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. weekdays. Parents are advised to contact the school their child will attend for an appointment.

The school will check the following areas of development: cognitive-verbal, fine motor, gross motor, speech and expressive language, hearing, vision, social affective and medical history.

Children born in 1978 will be eligible to register for kindergarten. To register a child for kindergarten, the parents must present the child's birth certificate, or some other legal proof of birth, immunization record and pay a $5 registration fee. Children, ages 3, 4 and 5 who need special services will be referred to the Early Childhood program. Parents will be given health cards so that physical or dental examinations and immunizations can be completed before the start of school. No child will be permitted to enter kindergarten without proof of a physical examination and an immunization record.

Section 27-8.1 of the Illinois School Code requires that each child, upon entering school (public or private) "... shall present proof of having been examined in accordance with this section and the rules and regulations promulgated hereunder."

The screening schedule will be at Blair School (876-4818) Tuesday, April 26, from 1 to 7 p.m., and at Harris School (877-6864) Wednesday, April 27, and Thursday, April 28, from 1 to 7 p.m., both days.

Prison for use of credit card

A credit card offense occurring in Madison is the basis of a one-year state prison term ordered by Circuit Judge A.A. Mataeson for Bernard Stuckey, 30, East St. Louis.

Illegal use of a credit card for an amount exceeding $150 led to a charge being filed June 14, 1982. A guilty plea was submitted Feb. 7, 1983.

Feels Moad deserves election in Sixth Ward

To the Editor:

We, the voters in the Sixth Ward, have a chance to elect a man who is for the people. He is a man that is well known in our ward, not because it is an election year, but because he has always been involved with the people of our ward.

He has represented us in the past as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, as president of the Granite City Democratic Club, as precinct commit-tee man for the Sixth Ward, and has been involved in the Wilson School PTA and the Cub Scouts.

Through these involvements, he has become aware of the needs of the people in our community and the Sixth Ward.

He is the kind of man that takes his commitments very seriously, and will do the best job possible for all.

So, as a group of citizens who are tired of seeing what is happening in our city and our ward, we ask that on April 12, you get out and vote for Woody Moad. Let's be united for the betterment of our city.

Charges result from mishap at 30th-Madison

Arriving at the scene of a two-vehicle accident on Madison Avenue at 30th Street at 3:45 p.m. Friday, officers found the driver of one car lying unconscious on the front seat with a loaded shotgun lying in his lap.

Initially, police said, it could not be determined whether the driver, identified as William A. Krug, 48, of 37 Moorland Drive, had been injured in the crash or had been shot, as blood was visible on his face and the car doors were locked, preventing immediate access.

When an officer believed he detected the odor of gunpowder and a hand movement was noticed near the weapon's trigger, it was decided to break a window to enter Krug's auto, reports state.

Krug, however, had not been shot, but had sustained injuries in the accident.

First-aid was administered by Granite City emergency medical technicians prior to Krug being taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

A 16-gauge shotgun with two live shells in the magazine was recovered from the man's auto, along with a bottle of bourbon found on the vehicle's front floorboard, it was alleged.

The accident is believed to have occurred when Krug's vehicle, headed north on Madison Avenue, turned left onto 30th Street in front of a southbound auto driven by June E. McClain of University City, Mo.

Mrs. McClain also suffered an injury.

Krug was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, unlawful use of a weapon, driving while his license was suspended, transporting alcohol and failing to yield the right-of-way on a left turn.

He was admitted to the medical center for treatment.

Deputy tries to aid man in lot

Granite City police responded to a call from an off-duty Madison County sheriff deputy at 2:57 a.m. Saturday when the latter reported having a man in his custody in the parking lot at Charlie's Restaurant, 3130 Nameoki Road.

The deputy alleged seeing Lacy W. Milton, 36, of 4364 Highway 162 trying to get in to an auto. He offered to take Milton home, so he wouldn't drive the vehicle, the deputy said, but then alleged seeing a revolver on the front floorboard of the car.

The deputy took possession of the weapon and unloaded four live rounds of ammunition from the gun before calling local police, it was alleged.

Possible breakthrough in usage of high-sulfur coal

Construction of an innovative, coal-fired boiler is expected to begin soon at an alcohol production plant in Pekin, the state energy agency announced. Natural gas normally is used to dry distillers' grain.

About $2.5 million for the $12 million project was made available through a grant from the Illinois Coal Development Bond Fund, said Michael B. Witte, director of the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources. He signed the contract with the company last week.

Midwest Solvents of Illinois will install a boiler designed by the Foster Wheeler Co. to provide power for the firm's alcohol distilling plant.

"The boiler uses a new technology known as fluidized-bed combustion, in which crushed limestone is injected into the chamber where coal is being burned," Witte explained. "Jets of air lift the burning and powdered limestone upward, and the swirling motion is what gives rise to the term 'fluidized bed.'"

"This technology allows the coal to be burned more completely and at the same time the limestone particles capture pollutants that otherwise would be emitted into the air from the boiler."

"With this system, Illinois' high-sulfur coal can be burned in an environmentally acceptable manner at reasonable cost."

Financial support for the project was awarded from the state's Coal Forces Fund, administered by ENR, because the technology is thought to offer a promising way for Illinois industry to use coal mined in this state.

"We want to demonstrate that Illinois coal can be a suitable fuel for industry — even when it is an energy-intensive industry like distilling — that coal is affordable and that it can be used in environmentally acceptable ways," Witte added.

Construction of the coal boiler and related equipment will take about 18 months, after which testing of the system will occur. Then the boiler will be operated full-time for a three-year demonstration period. It will generate 120,000 pounds of high-pressure steam per hour.

Data gathered during this period will be made available through ENR to other Illinois businesses seeking suitable technologies for using Illinois coal.

Bill would require identifying hazardous chemicals at plants

Legislation requiring employers to disclose the identities of hazardous chemicals used in the workplace has been introduced in the Illinois House of Representatives by Majority Leader Jim McPike (D-Alton).

"Thousands of workers all over Illinois are exposed on a daily basis to hazardous — even toxic — chemicals on the job," McPike said. "I am sponsoring this bill because I believe workers should be able to make an informed decision as to whether they want risk exposure to these substances."

House Bill 741 would require employers to label containers of toxic substances used on the job and to release information concerning those substances to employees upon request. The legislation also would require the supplier or manufacturer to provide an employer with the chemical identity of any toxic substance at the time it is purchased.

McPike pointed out that passage of the bill would make medical treatment for workers suffering from exposure to hazardous substances much easier.

"Currently, many physicians are unable to treat people suffering from job-related diseases because it is extraordinarily difficult to obtain information about what type of chemicals the worker may have been exposed to," McPike said. "This bill would rectify that situation."

Those groups supporting the bill include the Illinois AFL-CIO, the United Auto Workers and the Illinois Environmental Council.

PTA in national coalition fighting alcohol-drug abuse

The PTA has joined forces with six other organizations to form the National Coalition for the Prevention of Drug and Alcohol Abuse.

Mary Ann Leveridge, president of the National PTA, reports that the coalition received strong support from First Lady Nancy Reagan at a White House luncheon for coalition representatives.

In addition to the 5.2 million member parent-teacher group, organizations participating are the Association of Junior Leagues, the American Association of School Administrators, Lions International, the National 4-H Council, the Pacific Institute for Research and Evaluation, and the Quest National Center.

The coalition's first major project will be to seek to mobilize communities across the U.S. to organize town meetings to watch "The Chemical People," a two-part documentary on school-age substance use and abuse, to be produced by WQED-TV, Pittsburgh (PBS).

Working with WAED and other public TV stations, the coalition will conduct an information sharing and "how to" campaign to assist with the logistics of organizing town meetings.

"The Chemical People," featuring Mrs. Reagan and several entertainment and sports celebrities, will be broadcast on the Public Broadcasting System in two parts Nov. 7 and 9.

Part 1 will present facts about substance use and abuse. Substances will be shown and their effects discussed. Part 2 will present guidelines on forming grassroots task forces to prevent and fight school-age substance abuse.

Related activities will continue for three years, emphasizing communication about drugs and alcohol between family members.

ICC appointments change studied

By AL MANNING

The governor's office is seriously studying a proposal to create a nominating panel which would make recommendations on appointments to the Illinois Commerce Commission.

A study conducted by the state Department of Energy and Natural Resources on the selection process in other states reports that two states limit the governor's choice in making appointments.

Ohio recently passed legislation that establishes a committee composed of state and municipal officials, members of professional associations, consumers, senior citizens and utility executives, according to the report. The governor then chooses a candidate from the committee's list of recommendations.

New Hampshire has an executive council which makes recommendations to the governor.

The governor appoints commissioners in 37 states. In two states the appointments are made by the legislature, and 10 states elect commissioners (Nebraska).

Because there are no privately owned electric utilities in Illinois, the ICC regulates not only utilities, but also telephone companies and the trucking and airlines industries.

Thompson appointed the task force to study utility regulation last August as a response to criticism from Democratic gubernatorial candidate Adlai Stevenson and attorney general candidate Neil Hartigan.

The Democrats said Illinois had among the highest utility rates in the nation and attempted to place the political blame on the governor. Even his own attorney general, Ty Fehner, called for an elected Commerce Commission, something Thompson vehemently opposes.

The Democrats said Illinois had among the highest utility rates in the nation and attempted to place the political blame on the governor. Even his own attorney general, Ty Fehner, called for an elected Commerce Commission, something Thompson vehemently opposes.

The study, conducted by

Energy and Natural Resources because its director, Michael Witt, serves as the chairman of the force, places Illinois in the average range when comparing rates charged for electricity.

States with elected regulatory agencies generally had lower rates in 1981 than states with appointed agencies, the report concludes. However, for summer 1982, there was not a substantial difference between the two groups, according to the report.

The rate differentials might be attributed, the study said, to the amount of publicly generated electricity in the state. Rates are lower for public-owned utilities because they can finance construction with tax exempt bonds.

Also, regional differences exist because most of the elected commissions are located in the South.

Here are some of the conclusions in the report:

Illinois is in the middle level in terms of allowing overall rate of return and return on equity earned on electric utilities. Illinois allows an overall rate of return of 11 percent and utilities earn 13 percent on equity.

Half of the states allow "construction work in progress" to be figured into the rate structure, but there is no significant difference between elected and appointed states. Illinois allows some "construction work in progress."

Appointed commissions allow significantly higher staff levels than elected commissions. Illinois is ranked near the top in staff with 279, although California has 731 employees and New York 866.

Appointed commissions also have higher budgets than elected commissions. The average budget in an appointed state is $6.8 million. The budget in Illinois is $9 million.

Elected commissions complete rate cases more quickly than appointed commissions. The average time lag in Illinois is 10 months. Only eight states average longer.

The number of commissioners varies from three to seven. Appointed states have a woman; two-thirds of the appointive states have a woman. Illinois has five commissioners, one woman commissioner.

Salaries are higher for appointed commissioners. The average for elected commissioners is $36,600, for appointed commissions, $45,500. In Illinois the salary is $40,500.

Other studies of the system also are being conducted. The Economic Development Commission, for example, is conducting public hearings on the issue. And at least 10 bills are now subject are pending in the legislature.

Voters are being asked indirectly — to express a view on the subject of utility rates.

An advisory referendum will be held in Springfield and 16 other communities in the state on April 12. Voters will be asked whether a citizens utility board should be created to intervene on behalf of consumers before the ICC.

Such a board, if created, would solicit $5 contributions from residential users and take the money to hire a staff to intervene on important cases.

The referendum is advisory only. Ultimately the General Assembly will decide whether to establish such a board and whether to change the current system of appointing members to the Commerce Commission.

Talbot Hall begins series to aid alcoholics, families

Every family experiences some form of tension, but the influence of alcohol on a family increases those tensions, often to the point of causing the family structure to disintegrate.

Talbot Hall, an alcohol and drug abuse treatment center at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will begin a new Family Education Series to help families deal with the effect alcoholism has on their lives.

Beginning Tuesday, April 12, the series will meet on Tuesday evening, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. for four consecutive weeks. A new four week series will follow. Sessions will be continuous.

The program, which is directed at the entire family unit, will cover such topics as alcoholism recovery programs, relapse and the roles of the family members and enabling behaviors.

"This program," says Ginny Dellamano, program coordinator, "will also help prepare those people planning to enter the Family Care Program, which is a five-day out-patient program based on the treatment philosophy that alcoholism and chemical dependency are family illnesses."

The cost is $4 per person, per session, and will be in the Talbot Hall lecture hall. Interested persons may contact Nancy Adams at 798-3069 to make reservations.

Crash survivor is recuperating

Michael Heatherly, 20, of 2147 Woodlawn Ave. is alive and getting well, and might be making such progress. He nearly lost his life in a collision here at 3:55 p.m. March 23.

A motorcycle provides no frame to cushion the shock of an abrupt halt, such as that which occurred when the front of his motorcycle met the front of a truck.

The young cyclist suffered a broken nose and severe injuries to his right leg and foot. As he lay on Wabash Avenue, bleeding profusely, he thought his life was about to end, and wondered why it seemed to be taking so long for passersby to summon help.

Police and an ambulance crew arrived simultaneously and was rushed into emergency surgery. Fractures of the right foot and ankle were repaired, along with damage to an artery.

Initially in critical condition, Heatherly has been transferred from intensive care but may remain hospitalized for an extended period, undergoing physical therapy to help regain full use of his leg.

He is concerned for a time that he might lose his right leg or foot but now believes amputation will not be necessary.

The motorcycle was traveling north on Wabash. Driving his pickup truck west on Lynch Avenue, Raymond A. Wachter, 55, of 2117 Lynch was preparing to turn right to go south on Wabash.

Once the truck was in the cyclist's path, it slowed or stopped, Heatherly said, but it was too late for the motorcycle to miss the larger vehicle. The crash, the wait for help, and then the long recuperation followed.

PURSE, $150 TAKEN

The day will conclude with lunch for employer representatives. Thirty-eight employers and service agencies have confirmed their attendance. They are: AVCO Services, CETA, Children and Family Services, City of Granite City, Division of Rehabilitative Services, First National Bank in Madison, Granite City Housing Authority, Granite City Park District, Granite City School District, Hispanic Employment Program, Home Nurseries, Illinois Bell Telephone, Illinois Job Service, International House of Pancakes, Jewish Evaluation and Vocational Services, Lincoln Technical School, Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens, Madison County Urban League, Madison School District, Manpower Office, Mental Health Services, CATH, O'Dell Iron and Metal, Pepsi-Cola, Ponderosa Steak House, Radio Station WGNU, Ravaneli's Restaurant, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Schmucks, Social Security Administration, Southwestern Epilepsy Association, Specialized Services, Tri-Motor Bowl, U.S. Postal Service, United Way, Urban League of Metro St. Louis, Venture Stores and Willing Workers of America.

and Beth's Greenhouse, Venice School District, Granite City Township, Arnette Pattern, Interstate United, Luria Brothers, Central Hardware and Superior Marble.

Given the present economic conditions, the emphasis this year will be on job awareness. Nevertheless, disabled job seekers have a chance to become aware of job openings and qualifications. Employers interested may still contact Dorothy Ljwewski, 676-0451, or the Region I Office, 876-4900, to make arrangements.

Mayors Paul Schuler of Granite City, Mike Sasyk of Madison and Tyrone Echols of Venice have proclaimed this week as "Hire the Handicapped Week" in the Quad-City area to coincide with the Job Awareness Day.

Realtors remind taxpayers to deduct mortgage interest

As the April 15 deadline draws near, homeowners are again reminded of the various deductions they are allowed on mortgage interest payments and property taxes. Without these deductions, it would be almost impossible for many Americans to own a home, said Harley W. Snyder of Valparaiso, Ind., president of the National Association of Realtors.

The association, which is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year, has led the fight for a fair tax system since its founding and played a key role in winning homeowner tax deductions. The association also has opposed excessive government regulation and presently is leading the fight against mounting federal deficits.

Real estate historian Pearl Janet Davis once wrote "taxation is real estate's oldest problem." As early as 1912, Realtors formed a special committee to study and help modernize the nation's tax system. Through the efforts of this committee, the dual taxation on property value and mortgage amount was repealed.

In 1920, the National Association helped achieve a major tax relief for American homeowners by working to eliminate the federal excess profit tax on real estate sales. Also through realtor efforts, property owners in 1920 could deduct the interest paid on real estate mortgages from their federal income taxes, Snyder explained.

The Great Depression of the 1930s created a "tax squeeze," which threatened to strangle home ownership. Local tax rates were continuing at property levels while tax-paying ability declined. Property owners were carrying an excessive part of the local tax burden to support and maintain municipal services.

In 1932, Realtors began a campaign to promote more equality in local tax systems. After analyzing all existing state tax systems, they proposed a six-point program for tax modernization. The program was supported by many states and, in those states, the association was instrumental in obtaining a one-fifth reduction in real estate taxes in 1935.

After World War II, realtors helped defeat the wartime "quick profits tax" imposed on real estate. The government also proposed a ceiling on the sale price of real estate, particularly residential property. Realtors successfully opposed this restriction as well.

As the result of a six-year campaign by the National Association, home sellers in 1952 were allowed to defer capital gains taxes on the sale of a home as long as another home of equal or greater value was purchased within a year. Over the years, this law has been made more generous and to day home sellers are allowed the deferment if they build or buy another home within two years.

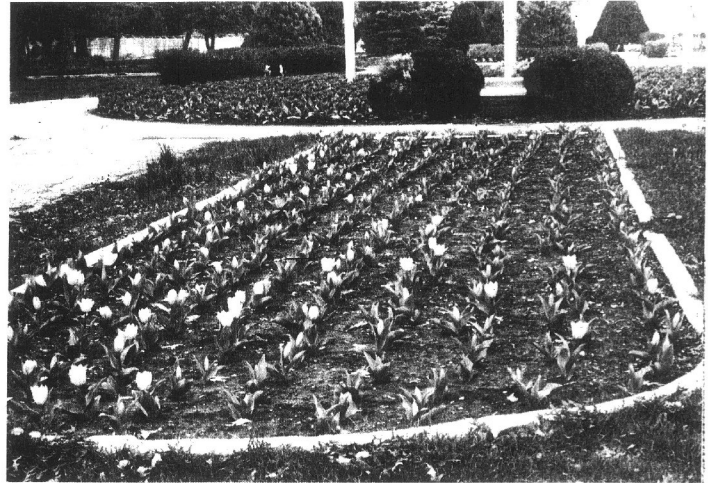

Realtors also have supported tax relief for the elderly. In 1962, as a result of realtor support, persons 65 years and older were allowed to exclude the first $30,000 of profit from the sale of their principal home from capital gains taxes. The amount was increased in 1978 to $100,000 and the age limit was lowered to 55 years. In 1981, the amount was increased to $125,000.

In recent years, homeowner deductions for mortgage interest payments have been threatened. Realtors helped defeat efforts in 1976 to place a cap on the amount of homeowner deductions. The National Association continues to oppose this limitation whenever it is proposed as a means of raising additional tax revenues.

Today, realtors remain dedicated to preserving the rights of American property owners. As tax laws constantly change, the National Association will work to preserve fair taxation for all the nation's property owners. Thus, it maintains a constant vigil in Washington, D.C., to ensure homeowners' rights are being protected and their voices are being heard.

The National Association of Realtors, the country's largest trade association, represents more than 600,000 individual members involved in every phase of the real estate industry.

Extend pension offset exemption

The exemption from the government pension offset has been modified so that it is extended to those becoming eligible for a governmental pension before July 1983. Oliver, Holm, Social Security district manager, reports.

Under the old law, a pension based on work for a federal, state or local government not covered by Social Security would cause a reduction in Social Security spouse's or surviving spouse's benefits unless the person was eligible for his or her government pension before December 1982.

In addition, men had to be dependent on their spouse for half or more of their support to qualify for the exemption. The new law extends the deadline for the exemption to July. This means that people who become eligible for a government pension in December 1982 through June 1983 may receive an exemption from the pension offset, even if they were dependent on their spouse for half or more of their support.

This half-support requirement now applies to both men and women.

Under the government pension offset, a person's Social Security benefit as a spouse or surviving spouse is reduced dollar for dollar by the amount of any pension he or she receives based on work for a state, federal or local government not covered by Social Security.

Any Social Security benefit a person receives based on his or her own work is not affected by the government pension offset.

More information about the government pension offset can be obtained at 274-4100 or by dialing the operator and asking for Enterprise 1-555.

BBB warns against paying a joblist

Consumers are urged to use caution before sending their $38 for employment to the Joblist, 3212 S. Grand St., St. Louis, Mo. 63118, the St. Louis Better Business Bureau warns. The BBB has been flooded with inquiries in the past several days from consumers who have responded to an array of ads for jobs placed in help-wanted columns of major newspapers.

These ads are misleading a number of persons into believing that positions are available for an advance fee of $38. Although the company claims unlimited access to "confidential" employment opportunities, the BBB found that the company's job list is compiled by company representatives who scan the "yellow pages" of telephone directories and call companies in hopes of finding job opportunities.

The BBB considers these types of ads to be both deceptive and misleading in that consumers can obtain the information for themselves without paying anyone an advance fee.

Joblist advertisements initially stated that Joblist "guarantees a job."

However, consumers are reminded that no one can guarantee a job and it is illegal in the state of Missouri to charge an advance fee for employment.

Call the employment agency and get as much information as you can over the phone. Understandably, the agency will want to meet with you in person, but first try to establish whether the job is real.

Organize your thoughts and questions. There is no reason for the employment counselor to continue to be evasive once you are there in person.

Contact your Better Business Bureau if you have doubts about an employment service or if you find one that has advertised a mythical job.

County to receive job bill money
Madison County will receive about $1.2 million in addition to Community Development funds being made available as part of a recently-passed emergency jobs bill, Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City, Madison County Board chairman, has announced.

Associated Press, however, sets the figure at closer to $2 million. A spokesman for the Community Development Office, however, said that agency knows only of $1.2 million that will definitely be granted to the county. Other monies could come in later, it was indicated.

The money will mainly be used to provide jobs by financing public works projects, through Community Development Block Grants.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) sets guidelines for using the funds and should release that information soon, it was announced.

Jobs that could be financed include water and sewer improvements, street improvements, housing rehabilitation, projects to assist low and moderate income people and emergency assistance for communities.

Cities and towns receiving shares of the grants must inform the government by July 1 as to how they plan to utilize them.

Venice council hears changes in development grant program

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Income limits used in determining eligibility for assistance under the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Community Development Block Grant Program have been revised, members of the Venice City Council learned at Tuesday night's meeting.

In other action, the council approved a building permit for a four-family apartment building, to be constructed at 640 Broadway.

The brick structure will cost about $37,000 and each family unit will feature two rooms, according to the architect, Lennil Johnson Sr., 1319 Oriole St.

In discussing the housing rehab program in Venice, Mayor Tyrone Echols noted that HUD periodically adjusts income limits and suggested those applications already submitted by Venice families, whose requests were previously determined to be ineligible due to income level, should be reviewed.

According to Madison County Community Development, the revised income limits for housing rehabilitation grant programs, with the number in family and maximum family income listed in sequence, are as follows:

One person family may have a maximum income of $9,050; two person—$10,350; three—$11,650; four—$12,950; five—$14,000; six—$15,000; seven—$16,050; eight or more—$17,100.

A "whole house" rehabilitation program started in Venice in September 1979 with an grant of $60,000 from Community Development funds and a $5,000 donation from Venice Township to buy the necessary tools for the project.

During the intervening years, concern has been expressed by Venice City Council members, on occasion, about methods used by the Community Development agency allegedly causing delays in inspections and other procedures.

At the end of 1981, about 25 homes had been rehabilitated and several were waiting for inspection. It was learned that many applications were denied due to family incomes exceeding the guidelines.

At the present time, between 35 and 40 houses have been completed under the program, but the current status of the project is not immediately known due to funding problems, Mayor Echols said.

The mayor commented Wednesday that he still hopes the proposed new community center for Venice senior citizens will cost about $200,000 to construct. No figures on cost estimates have been yet received.

"The remaining funds, about $60,000 or $65,000, could then be used to continue the housing rehabilitation program until additional funding is available," he added.

Last December, the aldermen agreed to combine $73,000 in Community Development funds with $109,000 previously earmarked for construction of a new senior community center. It was learned that Mayor Echols was referring.

Architect sketches of the proposed new center were to be ready for review at 3 p.m. Wednesday at Mayor Echols' office, he announced at this week's meeting.

Mayor Echols also read a letter from U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy, who noted his continuing support for the St. Louis Harbor Study and said a recommended version of the study should be available for review within a month.

The Venice Council has gone on record as supporting the study, specifically in the area of a proposed expansion project at the Tri-City Regional Port, and a letter to that effect was sent to Congressional leaders.

Sen. Percy stated, "I have referred a copy of your letter to the Chief of Engineers asking that it be considered among the comments received."

and emphasizing my own support for the study as it pertains to expanding the Tri-City Regional Port.

Public comments will be received about the project for 90 days after the revised version of the study is received by the Chief of Engineers. The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors already approved the study on March 2.

All materials requested by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs in the city of Venice's quest for designation as an enterprise zone have been forwarded and an evaluation by state officials now is underway. Mayor Echols advised council members Tuesday night.

An announcement will be made in April, regarding which communities have been selected as enterprise zones in the program's first year, the mayor has been informed.

Venice is one of 19 communities seeking designation as enterprise zones under the state's new economic development legislation.

WAR ON CRIME

Major legislative reform sought

By RAY SERATI

SPRINGFIELD — Legislation, which sponsors say will help in the war on white-collar and organized crime, racketeering and theft, has been introduced in the Illinois legislature.

The proposed legislation is the outgrowth of a year of study by the Chicago Crime Commission.

"This is the first time the Chicago Crime Commission has introduced a package in the legislature to fight crime, according to the commission's Executive Director Patrick Healy.

Handling the legislation in the Senate will be Sen. George E. Sangmeister, D-Mokena, and Senate President Phil Rock, D-Oak Park. In the House, the legislative program will be under the direction of House Speaker Michael Madigan, D-Chicago, and Rep. John Cullerton, D-Chicago.

The keystone of the three-bill legislative package forms the Illinois Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act of 1983. A new racketeering offense would be created to strictly prohibit operating, acquiring or investing in any enterprise, public or private, by a pattern of racketeering. It also provides for new criminal penalties.

"Law enforcement officials must have at least equal tools with which to fight often complicated fraud schemes that may even use legitimate businesses as a front for criminal activity," Madigan said.

The legislative proposal includes a bill to curtail and reform an expansion of the use of immunity in prosecuting white-collar and organized crime, according to Sangmeister.

"This (legislative package) is not a reaction," Sangmeister said, "but it is something that has been under study for sometime."

"The tougher theft law," Sangmeister said, "will put a serious dent into the now familiar 'chop-shop' activities that have gone on in Illinois. The new crime of dealing in stolen property could be imposed with it, higher criminal penalties."

Prosecutors, investigating committees and commissions, frequently encounter difficulty in obtaining witnesses for fear of self-incrimination, according to Sangmeister, who is a former Will County state's attorney.

The immunity legislation would permit immunity from the "use of testimony" to be granted by prosecutors, legislative committees and administrative agencies.

FACES TWO CHARGES
Michael V. Hill, 36, of 1015 Second St., Venice, was arrested and charged by Venice police with reckless driving and criminal damage to property last week. He was released the same day at 10:05 p.m.

Associate Judge Edward Ferguson has placed David Turcott, 2021 Washington Ave., on two-year probation. An attempted burglary occurred Feb. 8 and Turcott pleaded guilty Feb. 18.

A 17-inch television was taken in a burglary at the home of Martin Schulte, 2011 Grand Ave., he reported at 5:45 p.m. Saturday. Entry was through a kitchen window. The previous day, a license plate was stolen from his auto, Schulte said.

than appointing state utility rate setters.

He said precinct committee plan a strong push for the ICC proposal. Circulars which were given out asked, "Tired of paying high utility bills? Vote yes on April 12 to elect the members of the Illinois Commerce Commission."

The candidate forum was sponsored by the Granite City Democratic Club and by the Granite City Rotary.

Positive, upbeat approaches were voiced by those speaking at the Harold Brown briefings. Harrison had started the 90-minute program by ruling out any negative comments about ballot opponents, and the candidates entered into the spirit of the evening by predicting an economic rebound for Granite City and the surrounding area.

Three rivals for the City Council in Ward Six were represented in the list of speakers.

Alderman Walter Milton noted his past experience on the Granite City Housing Board and Granite City Park Board. He was a former vice-president of the City Rotary.

"I want to serve," Milton said in recalling his work as chairman of the Council's finance committee and as an active member of several other aldermanic committees.

"We have been working for high efficiency and fairness. We're striving to operate the city on a business-like basis and we're holding the line on taxes," Milton concluded.

Woodrow Moad, one of his opponents, noted his administrative experience at the U.S. Defense Mapping agency, where "millions of dollars" of federal proposals cross his desk.

Moad urged that the city's sewage treatment plant be expanded to serve the entire region, in order to comply with the original plan and to share the operating cost.

"As alderman, I will hold regular ward meetings and I will work to assure that all city employees live within the city," Moad stated.

Other speakers, he emphasized efforts to "bring jobs back to Granite City."

Woody Halbrook, son of candidate Ron Halbrook, briefly for his father, who is a Ward Six candidate. He described the family and said a door-to-door campaign is being conducted.

Ward Five speakers were Lloyd Bailey, a former alderman, and Mrs. La Verne Corbett. Mrs. Barbara Elmore was not present.

Bailey noted that he moved to Granite City 27 years ago. Ward Five is 35 years old and Precinct Nine 33 years ago.

He cited the city's issuance of industrial bonds to stimulate job growth and noted that the A.O. Smith Corp. is preparing to reopen its local plant.

Bailey said, "I'm running hard," and wants an opportunity to serve on the City Council again, now that Mrs. Margaret Norton is retiring. He has been of the Council for two years.

Mrs. Corbett cited her longtime experience as a Granite City school teacher and counselor.

She said her duties with the schools and while self-employed have given her experience in carrying out administrative work and in reaching policy-making decisions.

"Granite City is a wonderful town" and can solve its unemployment problems, she asserted. While new to politics, Corbett said she likes people and plans to keep in regular contact with residents of the ward.

Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur was unable to attend. His appoint, Phillip Miller, said he is a lifelong resident, independent, and interested in bringing improvements to the ward and city.

"I've been going door to door and have had an overwhelming response," Miller commented. He outlined plans to seek street repairs and drainage progress.

Miller concluded that he will work cooperatively to increase the local job base, easing families' tax burden.

Unopposed municipal candidates speaking were Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield, First Ward Alderman Everett Molen, Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer, Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk and Seventh

Ward Alderman Michael Modrusic. When five running for two six-year terms on the Granite City Park Board, three spoke; Jerry Bristol and Mrs. Augusta Bristol were not present.

Gary Grindler, told of his experience on the park district staff and at McDonnell Douglas Corp., saying it would aid him greatly in serving effectively on the board, particularly in recreation matters.

He said the district has a deservedly outstanding reputation and that he would strive to continue "in the Harold Brown tradition. Brown was superintendent of parks and grounds before retiring."

John "Jeff" Worthen, a member of the Park Board for six years, recalled a long list of improvements in services and facilities during the past several years.

Vice-president of the board, Worthen said he is active in many of the activity and sports programs and is able to include multiple vantage points in his board discussions. He is the grandfather, William Milton Worthen, served on the Granite City Park Board 32 years.

Billy Loman, a board member 32 years, said he is running on his record, including progress made by the district over a period of several decades. He praised the other board members and Grindler.

Loman said he seeks maximum services while keeping spending at a reasonable level. Although he does not always vote identically with other board members, he said, he can work well with them. "I'll do the best I can" for the district, he promised.

Of the candidates for a two-year park term, Richard Reinhardt, incumbent, was not present and Miss Nancy Sanders spoke to the gathering, noting her seven-year experience with park recreation programs here.

A graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and a Granite City Army Installation employee for the past two years, she praised park programs and said she will work to maintain and improve them. She is a lifelong Granite Cityan.

She testified that Massa did later gain control, using money she the Six accounts which contained the fake stock certificates.

In cross-examination Friday, she said even though she typed in Massa's name on the photocopies, she did not know whether he was aware of what was going on.

"In the beginning, I was never told there was anything wrong with Mr. Massa's account, as far as Mr. Massa knew," she said.

She acknowledged that Brimberry had told her there was no way he personally could have put that money in Massa's account, but she said Skinner's attorney, Bob Rice of Belleville, had Mrs. Brimberry turn and look the jury in the eye when she answered his questions.

He pointed out to her that she could be charged with perjury if she failed to answer truthfully.

He then asked her if Skinner had been involved in having the fake certificates printed, if he knew Brimberry was taking money from Stix, if he knew that money was being used by Miller Excavating had come from Stix funds.

To these and other questions, she answered in the negative, or said, "Not to my knowledge."

Bailey asked her, at one point, Sally Maers had tried to blackmail the Brimberys. She said this was so, and that Brimberry had responded by giving Mrs. Maers money.

Mrs. Brimberry said, "Yes," when Rice later asked if Mrs. Maers had threatened to tell Stix & Co. that one of the 10 customer accounts, J. A. Miller, was Mrs. Brimberry's.

Rice, in his cross-examination, sought to show that Skinner had the status of a Brimberry employee, rather than a role in the Stix scam.

He brought out that Skinner had been employed as a "jack of all trades," as well as an accountant for Brimberry, carrying out such duties as paying the armed guards at the Brimberys' lavish home in Grandview, washing cars and hanging luggage on at least one of the Brimberys' numerous vacations.

decks and other physical property. Rice brought out that Skinner had been a bookkeeper for Miller Excavating and that in 1978, when the Miller Excavating supervisor quit, Skinner also took that job.

She said what was aware that Stix money went into Miller Excavating. But when asked, "No," when asked if she had personal knowledge that Skinner knew Stix was the source of the money.

A prosecution asked her if Brimberry ever told Skinner where he was getting "all this money."

"I don't know if he told him or not," she replied.

She testified that money from the 10 Stix accounts had been received by Miller Excavating, for equipment and operations.

The Brimberry house in Granite City was described by Rice as "the jewel of the city." Mrs. Brimberry acknowledged that cabinets in the house had cost about $200,000.

She told of vacation trips taken to Las Vegas with as many as 20 persons the guests of the Brimberys, of $100 tips given waiters by her husband.

While her husband lost huge sums of money gambling in Las Vegas, it was not unusual for Skinner's losses to be less than $100, she testified.

Under questioning by the government, she said she gave money to Skinner to pay for the cabinets. She said she obtained cashier's checks or money orders for her and that she told him to cash them at different banks, all for $10,000, on the same day.

She testified that the money she obtained from Stix went for clothing, jewelry, cars and vacations. She said she knew that at some point the scheme would be disclosed and that the participants would be caught.

Mrs. Brimberry was the second witness called for the prosecution. Thursday, testimony was given by the Securities & Exchange Commission examiner who had discovered the Stix fraud.

The trial of Massa and Skinner is expected to last four weeks or longer, although Judge Nangle said stipulations agreed to by both sides may shorten the proceedings.

Venice will receive new proposals for cable TV

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Several cable television companies have expressed interest in providing cable service to Venice residents and representatives will be invited to present proposals soon to the Venice City Council.

Mayor Tyrone Echols reported at last week's council meeting.

The city learned late last month that an ordinance passed Aug. 24, approving a contractual agreement with a purported representative of a cable television company, apparently was non-existent as far as CATV Cable System is concerned.

"To update you on cable TV, I called the mayor of Centerville and they went with Telenational Cable, which, I believe, is beginning construction," Mayor Echols said. "One of their people (Tele-national) is going to study the copy of our agreement with CATV to see what they can do for us."

Centerville and Brooklyn are among several other communities which have cable franchise agreements with a former CATV employee whose dealings were professed to be unknown at the firm's New York headquarters.

Mayor Echols noted that a couple of other firms have shown interest in serving the Venice community with cable service.

First Ward Alderman Phillip Daniels reported that several residents have inquired if South Western Cable TV would be interested in providing service to Venice. "These talking about it seemed satisfied with their programming," he added. "Maybe we can get a copy of their (Granite City) ordinance and copies from two or three other communities. We should get all we can. It's time to find out the best way to go about it," Mayor Echols said.

Daniels also has learned that the Environmental Protection Agency "had taken some additional test samples in the Venice railroad yards." Although he did not have any official information about the EPA visit, Daniels said he understands the first time tests were run, only surface samples were taken. The EPA returned about a week ago to get subsurface samples.

The Illinois Central Gulf Railroad switching yards in Venice allegedly were contaminated with oil by a Missouri firm which is under investigation in both Illinois and Missouri.

Charges were filed Feb. 1 with the Illinois Pollution Control Board against Jerry Russell Bliss Inc., the firm's owner. Russell Bliss, company employee Jay Covert and the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad.

The main legal points against Bliss Inc. are: it is not licensed to do business in Illinois and Illinois Central does not have a valid permit to operate a refuse disposal operation in the Venice yards.

Four counts contained in the action are based on the fact "It is alleged that the defendants improperly disposed of hazardous waste by virtue of spraying of trichloroethylene and heavy metals considered to be toxic," according to Don Ramsell, a spokesman for Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan.

Results of earlier testing at the Venice yards have disclosed the presence of dioxin, which has been found in several Missouri sites. However, the Venice City Council has continued to remain alert to any further tests in the area.

Other action by the council includes: Approval of an agreement with the Illinois Department of Transportation for a $3,076 maintenance operation of the cutoff road from Route 3 to Broadway at the Venice-Broadway underpass.

Gave permission for the Venice Police Department to purchase three pagers and an encoder unit at a total cost of $1,700, recommended by Third Ward Alderman John Ervin of the Police and Water Committee.

Authorized the retention of Juneau Associates engineering firm to inspect and prepare a traffic study on the intersection of Klein and Russell streets, caused by use of the major thoroughfares as an alternate route during the eight-month period when the Broadway underpass was closed.

Granted permission for Venice Civil Defense Director Ben Honorable to attend a statewide meeting of the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency in Springfield.

Heard a report on pending court action against property owners who have consistently refused to remove debris and generally clean up their property.

Alternate routes announced for Poplar St. Bridge

The Illinois Department of Transportation has announced alternate routes motorists should travel in order to avoid the construction of the Poplar Street Bridge.

Those normally using the Poplar Street Bridge are encouraged to use the McKinley Bridge for access to downtown St. Louis, especially during rush hour traffic.

There will also be signs posted on Interstate 55 and 270 at their intersection with Interstate 270 to encourage westbound traffic to use 270 to avoid the bridge repair area.

Extra time should be allotted during the construction period, which should conclude by Sept. 1, it was announced.

Two of the four traffic lanes in each direction will be closed to allow adequate room for the contractor's work operations. Due to the heavy traffic volumes, it is anticipated that long delays will be experienced by motorists utilizing the bridge during the construction period. In order to alleviate this congestion, the use of alternate routes and traveling during off peak hours is strongly recommended.

Paddlers Club offers summer memberships

At a meeting held last week, the stockholders of Paddlers, Inc., voted to allow fifty additional summer memberships (non-stockholding) for the 1983 swim season.

The local swim club on Johnson Road provides member families with daily recreational swimming and sponsored special events for members throughout the season. Also, the club offers the opportunity for member youth to compete in championship swim/diving team.

Persons interested in obtaining information about summer membership with the club are invited to call Glen Cornelison at 876-2750.

Robber takes $2

A man crouching under a railroad car in Madison being loaded by a Granite City man robbed the railroad employee of his wallet, but took only $2 and then threw the wallet back Monday at 7:15 p.m.

Earnest J. Lear was loading a hopper car at the railroad tracks west of Kreider Trucking, 1600 Collinsville Ave., when he noticed the assailant "crouched down" under the car, police reports said.

The assailant was pointing what is believed to have been a pump-type air pistol at Lear. The man demanded money. Lear gave the assailant his wallet and his watch.

The suspect remained crouched under the car as the incident occurred and then fled west on Washington Ave. Lear said.

The suspect had a dirty green mask on his face that Lear said appeared to be homemade. He was wearing a blue-grey coat and white socks on his hands, police reports said.

BURGLARY PROBATION GIVEN MADISON MAN

On a Granite City burglary charge filed Dec. 7, 1982, Circuit Judge A. A. Mateosian has sentenced Wayne Brewer, 30, of 701 Madison Ave., Madison, to serve a year of probation.

The order also calls for the defendant to serve two weeks in the Madison County jail.

IN RESPONSE TO MARY E. ELLIOTT...

Alderman Decatur

INFORM THE PEOPLE

OF WARD 4, GRANITE CITY

In Mary E. Elliott's Ad of April 7, 1983 She Asked Why...

"... if Mr. Decatur, as a member of the Finance Committee, didn't know of the financial condition of the City, was he doing his job... If he did know, why didn't he inform us."

JULY, 1980

In the Thursday, July 10, 1980 issue of the Press-Record, there was an article titled "Caucous on city budget lively"

The article commented:

"Alderman argued over differences between the budget proposal offered by Dave Nolan, assistant to Mayor Paul Schuler, and the proposal offered by two members of the finance committee, Paul Ray Bowler and Warren Decatur. The finance committee is recommending that drastic personnel cuts be initiated this fiscal year to avoid deficit spending or a large tax increase."

In the Thursday, July 24, 1980 issue (front page) there were two opposing articles. In the article titled "G.C. can meet $14 million budget, mayor says" it was stated:

"The budget passed first reading, but it was on a vote of 8 to 5. Aldermen voting against passage of the budget, as written, were Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward, Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward, Lloyd Bailey of the Fifth Ward and Paul Ray Bowler and Mike Modrusis of the Seventh Ward."

In the article headlined "City cost cuts? Opinions vary" it is noted:

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler and Warren Decatur of the finance committee have recommended sweeping cuts through all "non-essential" city departments to avoid a cash-flow crisis next summer.

Decatur addressed the council Tuesday night, saying, "We are talking about using $486,000 of our revenue sharing for salaries. I want the aldermen to realize that there are other alternatives."

"I am not in favor of terminating people from employment, but we came up with a proposal to reduce all but the essential departments."

OCTOBER, 1981

In the Thursday, October 22, 1981 issue of the Press-Record, front page news offered an article titled "City funds 'worse than pictured'..."

New sales tax revenue will be devoted only to essential costs, rather than being wasted on extravagant spending, but no surplus is expected; an immediate tax cutback is unlikely because the city is in dire financial condition. A City Hall estimate of a $400,000 imbalance may have been accurate months ago but the real deficit is approaching $1 million, Bowler said, or exceeds $1 million, Decatur asserted.

He (Decatur) cited Press-Record articles from 1980 in which the mayor warned that the city by himself and others that the city needed to Percy assures Venice of support for harbor study

Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols has received a letter from U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy, who noted his continuing support for the St. Louis Harbor Study and said a recommended version of the study should be available for review within a month.

The Venice Council has gone on record as supporting the study, specifically in the area of a proposed expansion project at the Tri-City Regional Port, and a letter to that effect was sent to Congressional leaders.

Sen. Percy stated, "I have referred a copy of your letter to the Chief of Engineers asking that it be considered among the comments received and emphasizing my own support for the study as it pertains to expanding the Tri-City Regional Port."

Public comments will be received about the project for 90 days after the revised version is recommended to the Chief of Engineers. The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors already approved the study on March 2.

All materials requested by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs in the city of Venice's quest for designation as an enterprise zone have been forwarded and an evaluation by state officials now is underway. Mayor Echols advised council members Tuesday night.

An announcement will be made in April, regarding which communities have been selected as enterprise zones in the program's first year, the mayor has been informed.

Venice is one of 19 communities seeking designation as enterprise zones under the state's new economic development legislation.

Enor-mouse has enormous possibilities

By PROFESSOR
F. HENRY FIRSCHING
SIUE School of Science and Engineering

The enor-mouse is a real live creature as well as a play on words. Scientific personnel have been able to make mice about twice as big as they ever were before.

That brings the question, "Why would anyone want bigger mice?" The small ones are trouble enough."

Purpose of the experiment was not necessarily to grow large mice, but to study genetics. The enor-mouse demonstrated that a gene from one species of animal could be transferred to another species.

The gene for producing the growth hormone in the rat was transferred into a mouse. Not only was the gene transferred, but it was also expressed.

A complicated and delicate technique called microinjection was used. A deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) was taken from a mouse and biochemically changed so that it would accept the growth hormone gene from the rat. Then the modified DNA was reinserted into fertilized mouse eggs.

This was performed in 170 mouse eggs, and 21 offspring were produced. That represents about a 10 percent success rate.

Of these 21, only seven actually grew much more rapidly than their littermates. A few grew to almost twice the size of their normal littermates in a 74-day period.

Objective was not to produce large mice, but to understand and manipulate the genetic mechanism. This was the first time that a mammalian gene was transferred to another species and expressed. It is a milestone in genetic progress.

Previous efforts showed that a mammalian gene was transferred, but the actual function of the foreign gene did not occur. However, in the enor-mouse experiment, the growth hormone gene from the rat was definitely transferred to the DNA of the mouse.

The modified mice did make extra growth hormone. In fact, the growth hormone in the most rapidly growing mouse was about 800 times the concentration found in normal mice. The excess growth hormone promoted the increase in size.

The major importance of the enor-mouse experiment is in demonstrating the expression of a transferred foreign gene. But the individual experiment is also of direct interest.

Human beings are beset with a host of growth problems. Giantism and dwarfism are the extremes.

Such malfunctions often involve the growth hormone. Information concerning growth hormone functioning is of fundamental importance to understanding and alleviating some human problems.

This experiment also has some long-term future possibilities. Perhaps livestock, such as cattle, hogs and sheep might be grown to full size in a much shorter period of time.

Perhaps their bodies could not only be grown in a shorter time period, but also more efficiently, in terms of food, than is possible today. That would make the meat less expensive in the grocery store.

However, the present technique must be improved considerably before it can be applied broadly. Performing microinjection on mice and rats is quite different than on large animals like cattle. Nevertheless, the enor-mouse represents the first step in a long and complicated study.

The driving force for further work involves many factors. First is an understanding of the genetic process. Alleviation of human genetic diseases in general is always a consideration, while the application to livestock production seems to be a spinoff benefit rather than a direct goal of the study.

Even though those working with the enor-mouse experiment are enthusiastic about the information already developed, they recognize that much additional work is needed. Along with the success were some problems.

Many of the rat growth hormone recipients were sterile. So the effect of the introduced foreign gene may be in a long and complicated study.

Perhaps other normal genes are turned off because of the foreign gene. How this might occur is anything but clear. Obviously, a great deal of effort is needed before these and other points are explained.

Despite the great success of the enor-mouse, it will probably be a long time before anything beneficial will appear in the clinical area of the hospital or the meat counter of the supermarket.

Charge man in burglary attempt

A felony informational document alleging attempted residential burglary was issued last week by the Madison County state's attorney's office against Larry D. Johnson, 24, of 34 Grenzer Homes, Madison, who was taken into custody by Madison police. In addition, the man has been charged with resisting arrest.

Johnson was arrested when Madison officers were called to the home of Kenneth Cann, 1678 Second St., Madison, after the homeowner saw two men in the rear yard and then heard glass breaking in a basement window.

One man fled on foot toward Garesche Homes just before police arrived, but the second man, later identified as Johnson, remained and allegedly was seen by an officer prying on a basement window.

Johnson, who was advised not to move and to lie on the ground with his hands behind his back, acted as if he couldn't hear the officers, said.

After handcuffing the suspect, the two Madison officers, assisted by a special agent from the C&NW Railroad, were forced to physically pull Johnson up and carry him to a squad car, reports said.

A search of the area failed to locate the second man. Two mittimus also were issued against Johnson, who was transferred to the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

SKITS SPOOF TV DRAMAS

Two Second City television skits will be featured all this week at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The shows are scheduled in the Video Lounge on the second floor of the University Center.

Showtimes are today, Wednesday and Friday at 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday at 10:30 and 11:30 a.m. Admission for the show is free.

"Unnecessary Surgeon," the first feature, spoofs television drama, news shows and soap operas. "Bad Acting in Hollywood" is a take-off of courtroom dramas, with early Hollywood actors on trial.

The video series is sponsored by the Student Program Board. For more information, interested persons may contact the SPB at 1-492-2617.

TAKE CAMERA, CHANGE

A burglar ransacked all bedrooms and the living room at the home of Ruth Ann Gabriel of Granite City, she reported at 3:45 p.m. last week. A basement window was broken to enter the dwelling.

Among the items stolen were a strand of pearls, assorted jewelry, $16 in a billfold, bicentennial 50-cent pieces and quarters, stamps and a double-strand pearl bracelet. An inventory was being taken to determine what items were missing.

Cannabis and traffic charges

After a squad car approached an auto occupied by several persons, which was parked in the 1800 block alley between Delmar and Edison Avenues, early this month, the vehicle was driven off without headlights.

The car was halted a short distance away by an officer, who had activated the squad car's red lights, and it was alleged several cans of beer were on the rear floorboard.

The driver, Keith A. Dermott, 28, of 1628 Delmar Ave., was searched and 22 cannabis cigarettes allegedly were found in his jacket pocket.

He was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis, illegal transportation of alcohol and driving without headlights and was released upon posting a $102 cash bond.

Two other men and two women in the vehicle were cautioned by officers and released without being charged.

MAYORS PROCLAMATION FOR PROPERTY WEEK

Mayors Paul Schuler of Granite City, Mike Sasyk of Madison and Tyrone Echols of Venice have proclaimed April 10 to 16 as Private Property Week in the Quad-City area. In signing the proclamation, the mayors urged local citizens to join with realtors and realtor-associates nationwide in the observance.

During the annual event, which this year has "The Strength of a Nation Lies in the Homes of Its People" for a theme, the various boards of realtors call attention to Americans' rights to own real property.

The proclamation reminds citizens that one of the most precious rights Americans enjoy is the right to own, use or transfer real property, and that right must not be taken for granted.

GC man leaves after striking car

A Granite City man was arrested by Madison police last week after he fled the scene of an accident in which he allegedly struck a parked car in front of White's Auto Sales, 739 Madison Ave., setting off a chain reaction that eventually left damage to three vehicles.

Randy L. Cochran, 37, of 2522 Roney Drive, faces charges of driving while under the influence (DUI) of intoxicating liquor, leaving the scene of an accident and careless driving following his arrest at 11:35 p.m. Police were sent to the scene at 10:20 p.m.

They noted three vehicles facing south, one in front of the other, parked in front of White's Auto Sales.

Witnesses said the suspect fled on Madison Avenue and turned onto Eighth Street.

He alleged they saw Cochran's car parked in a driveway in the 2000 block of 13th Street in Granite City.

When questioned, police said Cochran could not account for damage to his car nor could he tell them where he had been for the last several hours. Police allege that Cochran was unsure of his footing and they noted a strong smell of alcohol.

The car Cochran struck had damage estimated at $250, as did his own vehicle. He was arrested and a $200 cash bond and a notice to appear in court.

SPENDING DEFERRALS AID STATE BALANCE

The available balance in the state's general funds at the end of March was $72 million, the result of spending deferrals during the month for refunds, public aid grants and higher education operations, Comptroller Daniel W. Burris reported Monday.

The $72 million was the second lowest end of March balance in 20 years, and the 20th consecutive month the balance remained below a $200 million fiscal "warning zone" level.

INJURY, 2 ARRESTS

Investigating reports of a fight last week in the 3800 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, police saw a group flee and arrested two 21-year-olds for trespassing at the housing project. Patrick F. McGowan, 2666 Edwards St., was freed on $52 bail. Gary R. Coughn, 2405 Iowa St., had suffered a large cut on the right index finger and was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for surgery.

REPORTS BURGLARY

One, Granite City, reported that his home was burglarized during the day last week. He told Madison County sheriff's deputies that stereo equipment, men's and women's jewelry and telephones valued at $760 were taken. A 29-gallon fish aquarium in the kitchen was broken by the burglars.

Resisting charge against man, 55

William B. Masters, 55, of 2128 Illinois Ave., arrested last week following a disturbance there and was charged with resisting arrest after he allegedly tried to punch Officer Don Petrillo, hitting him in the chest. In addition, Masters was charged with battery.

Advised that he was under arrest, Masters allegedly began struggling and both he and the officer fell from a porch. Necessary force was needed to restrain and handcuff Masters, police said.

Officers had been called to the Masters home earlier by Mrs. Doris Masters, who said her husband started an argument and pushed her down outside the house, causing her to fall and injure her left forearm.

At the time of the second call, Masters allegedly was standing in a doorway at the house, yelling threats at his wife when Officer Petrillo attempted to get the man to explain the problem and was hit in the chest.

Mrs. Masters alleged her husband returned to the dwelling, pushed their son around and began arguing with her and others present prior to police being called for a second time.

Three hours after his arrest, Masters complained of having chest pains and was taken by ambulance from jail to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He was returned to police headquarters after the ambulance declined to be treated in the emergency room.

In a court appearance, Masters pleaded guilty and was fined $335.

TWO RADIOS STOLEN

A burglar who forced open a window of the van of Richard Hodshire, 2513 Jerden Ave., while the vehicle was parked there last week, took a 40-unit socket wrench set, a 40-channel citizen band radio, four cassette tapes and a softball glove. The intruder also stole an in-dashboard cassette radio and caused extensive damage.

4-DOOR AUTO TAKEN

A white 1979 Olds Regency 4-door auto owned by Louis McCoy, 1905 Greenwood St., Madison, was stolen last week, while parked near the K-Mart store.

RICKY VERNON, an Army private, has completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and is in training at Ft. Eustis, Va., to be a jet turbine engine mechanic. The son of Louis and Ruth Vernon, 2028 Benton St., he is a 1982 graduate of Granite City High School South.

Pleads guilty to 4 charges

Melvin A. Stroud, 28, of 3020 Ash Ave., arrested twice on the same day last week, following incidents involving a tavern in the 900 block of Niederrhagen Avenue from where he allegedly had been making threatening phone calls to his wife. At the time of officers arrived at the tavern, Stroud reportedly was on the telephone with his mother.

He was charged with violation of a Domestic Violence Act Order of Protection, which prohibited him from harassing and threatening his former wife, police said.

During the early morning hours of the same day, police were notified by a relative of Stroud's that the man had taken medication and alcohol and was headed toward the home of his former wife, allegedly to commit damage and to create problems.

Enroute to the Wilson Park Lane address, an officer saw Stroud driving an auto which allegedly disobeyed a traffic light at Nameoki Road and Madison Avenue.

The officer followed the car and alleged Stroud also disobeyed the traffic signal, lights at Nameoki and Pelting Roads and halted the driver at Benton Street and Oregon Avenue.

While talking with police, Stroud allegedly twice started to pull away from an officer and was arrested. He was charged with resisting arrest and two counts of disobeying a traffic light.

Questioned about taking the medication, Stroud allegedly having taken only two tranquilizers instead of more than 20, as reported by a relative.

While in police custody, Stroud fell asleep and an officer contacted St. Elizabeth Medical Center emergency room personnel, described the circumstances and was advised to awaken Stroud and ask again how many pills were ingested.

At the time of the second questioning, Stroud allegedly said he had taken 20 pills and he was taken to the medical center for examination. He was returned to police custody and was released after posting a $154 cash bond on the traffic and resisting charges.

He was rearrested on the Domestic Violence Act violation six hours later.

Appearing before a Judge 90 four-door auto owned by Louis McCoy, 1905 Greenwood St., Madison, was stolen last week, while parked near the K-Mart store.

Seminars are designed to improve management

The Center for Management Studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer three one-day seminars during April in the St. Louis area for managers interested in improving productivity.

The seminars are scheduled April 12, 13 and 14 near Interstate 70 and St. Louis Lambert Airport. Sessions will be from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

"Managing for Performance Improvement" will be offered April 12; "Managerial Decision Dynamics" will be April 13, and "Managing Management Time" is scheduled April 14.

Registration for all three seminars is $475. Individual seminars are $155 each. Registration includes luncheon, breaks and all seminar materials. Groups of individuals from the same organization attending the same seminar are entitled to a discount.

"Managing for Performance Improvement" is designed to provide managers and supervisors with the tools necessary for improving interactions with their subordinates. Coursework includes the philosophies of management, managing with a contingency perspective, organizational goals and worker needs, shaping attitudes and value systems, organizational climate and performance appraisal.

"Managerial Decision Dynamics" will deal with the decision-making process. Coursework will include individual and group problem-solving; conflict resolution; reactive and proactive behavior; long-range planning; non-assertive, assertive, and aggressive styles of management; and group climate and its influence on problem solving.

"Managing Management Time" has been planned for busy leaders who feel they do not have enough time to do all the things they need to do. To cope with increased time and productivity demands, careful planning is required to identify time robbers and develop valuable techniques for improving personal and organizational efficiency, according to James F. Miller Jr., director of the center. This seminar will take a close look at some of those techniques.

Additional information concerning these seminars and other courses, programs and workshops offered by the SIUE Center for Management Studies is available by contacting James F. Miller Jr. at 1-692-2668.

Senator Hart was quoted as saying his choice was quite easy. "I wanted a person who has a nationally recognized reputation for organizing and fund raising, but much more importantly, I wanted someone who has an impeccable personal reputation for integrity, professionalism and competence. Joe is that person."

The senator continued, "In addition, he is one of the most experienced and capable financial managers in the entire country and one of the most knowledgeable people concerning operations of federal, state and local government."

Wilkins, a former captain in military intelligence and a highly-decorated combat veteran of Vietnam, has extensive fiscal and budgetary experience with the Department of Defense and the state of Illinois. Rep. Wolf urges students to apply early for scholarships

State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) is today urging all students in the 11th Legislative District to apply as soon as possible for grants from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission.

"I know that March isn't the best time to ask a student if he or she plans to go to college next September," Wolf said, "but, because of the budget cuts Governor Thompson has proposed, 30,000 less scholarships will be available for next school year."

"Fewer scholarships will mean stiff competition for remaining scholarship funds and, if students in my district are to have a fair chance at those funds, I advise them to apply to the Scholarship Commission as quickly as possible," Wolf added.

Grants from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission are based on financial need and are available to all Illinois residents. The maximum grant this year is $2,000 for full-time or half-time undergraduate study at a public or private college in Illinois.

"It is extremely important to apply early," Wolf said. "Two years ago, if applications were not in by August, they were too late, and with 30,000 less scholarships this year, it will be even worse."

Students can pick up applications from their high schools or write to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission to send several application forms to my district office in Granite City," Wolf said.

The vehicle was registered to Robin Wilbur of the 2600 block of Iowa Street, who was contacted and came to the scene. Missing from the auto were an AM-FM cassette radio taken from the dash, a cooler containing beer and the car's glove box, reports said.

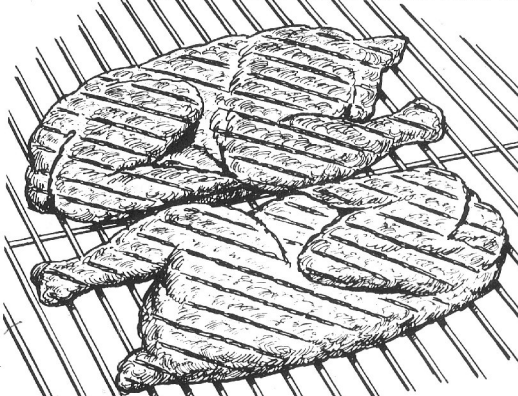

Wilbur reported having been at Sammy's Tavern, 921 Niedringhaus Ave., earlier that night when someone stole his jacket with the car keys in the pocket. He had left his auto parked at the tavern, he advised.

SPEECH STUDENTS, from Sacred Heart Catholic School, participated in competition held at St. Paul's Elementary School in Highland. From left is, Deirdre Baggot, first place, Keith Unfried, third, Dawn Kamadulski, first, Niall Baggot, second and Kim Lucido, second.

Quad-City women attend Homemakers Conference

There were 51 Madison County Homemakers Extension Association members among 1,065 Illinois Homemakers who gathered at the University of Illinois campus for the Illinois Homemakers Extension Federation annual conference. The conference consisted of the annual business meeting, Elsie Mies Banquet, outstanding speakers, awards and learning sessions.

Local women attending were, Arlene Brinkmeyer, Elizabeth Schmidt, and LaNell Lesseg, all of Granite City, and Ada Walker from Madison.

"Reaching Out" was the theme for the three-day conference. HIEP President, Rose Keith of Oglethorpe, called the annual business meeting to order in the Great Hall of Krannert Center. There was a parade of county banners, after which the banners were placed in stands and served as background for all sessions in the Great Hall. Campus tours followed the business meeting.

An evening session featured awards presentations and Helen Knoedler of Streator entertained conference delegates with "Tunes and Treasures From My Hat Box," a musical skit about the fashion and wearing of hats by women. Working from a large three-foot-square hat box, Mrs. Knoedler modeled hats that were fashionable throughout the ages.

The keynote speaker for the afternoon general session was Dr. Henry Viscardi Jr., founder and president of the Human Resources Center at Albertson, Long Island. He gave an example of "Reaching Out."

Dr. James Whitehurst, Bloomington, presented a program titled "E.S.P. - Mysteries of the Mind," during the Annual Elsie Mies Day banquet held in the Illini Union, one evening.

In addition, U of I Cooperative Extension specialists and resident staff conducted classes for participants on two mornings. Class topics include, how to develop a career plan, resolving problems in dealing with teenagers, aerobic exercises, caring for lawn mowers, color selection, television in the home, kitchen planning, using your living space, public affairs, theorem painting, dynamics and delights of the mind, leadership development, microcomputers and the quest for quality.

Other sessions focused on dietary fiber in health, drying fruits and vegetables at home, the diet and cancer connection and developing your wellness lifestyle.

HEA officers and directors exchanged ideas during "share shops" at one morning session. Topics included leadership, membership, record keeping, finances, citizenship, safety, cultural arts, international programs, public information and program development for young homemakers.

'Family Conflicts' is homemakers topic

Genevieve McCormis and Helen Miller delivered a presentation entitled "Ways of Resolving Family Conflicts," to members of the Trio Unit of Homemakers Extension Association. Twenty-four members and one guest, Gerald Lux, were present at the meeting.

During the business segment, members were informed of the Town and Country Art Show to be held May 13-15 at the Rox-Arena in Roxana. Craft Chairman Marie Durbin advised the members to purchase supplies for the candlemaking to be taught Tuesday, May 3, at 10 a.m. at Hope Lutheran Church. Also the unit will be attending an annual meeting in Highland, Ill., at the Fairgrounds Exhibition Building on Wednesday, April 27, at 9:30 a.m. It was announced that the district meeting will be a tour of Shaw's Gardens on Wednesday, May 4. The bus will be leaving at 9:15 a.m. from St. John United Church of Christ, and reservations must be made by Friday, April 15.

Chairman Arlene Brinkmeyer gave a report on her three day trip to Urbana, for the state homemakers conference. Clara Schilling informed members of her talk about area floods from 1894 to 1982, which was presented on cable TV. A lesson on the safety of a smoke detector was presented by Pat Mitchell. It was noted that Norma Smith and Rose Kayser delivered mobile meals during the month of March. Following the business meeting, refreshments were served to those attending by hostesses Helen Roessner, Marie Durbin and Auretta Santagata. Naomi Chapman, recreation chairman, presented prizes to June Lux, Audrey Nagy and Vera Kirkpatrick.

Old Six Mile hears program on Culture

The Old Six Mile Historical Society held its April meeting in the 300 Room of Tri-Mor Bowl with 45 members and guests also present.

President Don Gargac conducted a business meeting and the pledge of allegiance was led by Eldon Curtright.

The treasurer, Waldo Frohardt, reported that there was a balance in the new museum-building fund of $4,666. This fund is a money-market account and draws monthly interest. It was noted that a number of charter members have not paid dues for the 1982-83 year, which ends on May 31. Dues are now being accepted for the society's 1983-84 year.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for the new year starting June 1: president, Don Gargac; vice-president, Marguerite Leow; treasurer, Clara Schilling; recording secretary, Linda Koenig; corresponding secretary, Paula Travis; board of directors for two-year terms (three to be elected), Georgia Engkeke, Loraine Bischoff, and Louis Joyner. Additional nominations for all positions will be accepted at the annual meeting in May.

Roberta Crawford announced that she still has tickets available on the tour which will be given away on Sunday, May 15, during the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society's annual home tour. A membership booth will be manned by the historical society at this time, and all money from the ticket sales goes directly into the museum-building fund.

The second Antique Show of the society is scheduled for Oct. 23 and 24. The show chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Udel Bischoff, announced that space contracts with deposits are already being received from exhibitors.

It was noted that information is being sought about possible sites for a museum. Anyone knowing of a site or a possible donor of a site is asked to contact an officer or board member.

The society also is happy to accept items of historical interest that may be exhibited whenever the museum is established. It is hoped that donors of large items will inform the society about them but continue to store the item until suitable storage facilities are ready.

Mrs. Georgia Engkeke, program chairman, introduced Eldon Curtright, a lifetime resident of the area and also a former school teacher and principal, who spoke on the early culture of the area. Curtright remarked that the dictionary definition of culture is "the quality in a person or society in arts, letters, scholarly pursuits, and the fine arts."

Democracy, according to Curtright, is found in home, church, and school; he believes these three factors also belong in the definition of culture.

About 1900 there was a large number of Welsh families, most of whom worked at Granite City Steel. They organized the St. David Benevolent Society to meet their specific needs. The first president was W. J. Lynch. One facet of the St. David Society was a choral organization with 30 members which grew rapidly to 80 participants. Their first conductor was David Taylor, but in 1905 John Morgan came to Granite City and assumed the job of conductor.

In 1911 this group won a first place in Chicago in regional competition, and in 1912 they won a national mention in national competition in Pittsburgh.

The St. David Society started the Welsh eisteddfod in the local area. They were devoted to the development of musical and literary talents among the peoples and included everything from music to oratory to painting. The eisteddfods were always held on Christmas afternoon and evening. A number of persons in the audience recalled their nervousness as they waited on some of the Welsh eisteddfods to participate. The last eisteddfod that was held in May was in May, 1942.

The women who belonged to the St. David Society always sponsored an annual Welsh tea that contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the local citizens.

Because of our proximity to St. Louis, local residents had access to the cultural opportunities to be found in the city. Curtright recalled a music teacher who frequently took his students to the St. Louis Symphony.

A local library has been available for over 75 years, but its "home base" changed several times before the present building on Delmar was built.

Everyone, remarked Mr. Curtright, is familiar with the location of the South High School. The audience laughed when he spoke about the opposition to building that school because it was being located "out in the country."

Several persons recalled the Saturday night band concerts held in the Triangle Park across from the home of John Tate was the director.

Mr. Robbins taught orchestra to high school students in the mid 20s, a subject that is no longer available for the students. Are the students being culturally deprived? Curtright said that culture is built on dedication—it cannot be taught, one does not have to have a particular degree of education to have culture.

Some of the audience believed that Mrs. Bessie Morgan Reese exposed young students to culture when she opened the first private kindergarten in Granite City. "Mr. Tom," her husband, picked up the youngsters for class, and several in the audience recalled this interesting introduction to education.

The annual meeting of the society will be held on May 2 at Tri-Mor Bowl and will feature Leonard Davis as the speaker on "Do You Remember?"

The Granite City Art Guild will sponsor a water color workshop for area artists on Thursday, April 16, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, according to Mrs. Eva Meadows, president.

Rob Sadler, a St. Louis artist, will be the instructor for the day, the president added.

Mrs. Meadows announced there are still a few openings for the project and those interested may register by calling her at 876-8905. Area artists interested in attending the monthly meetings of the guild are invited to the next session at 7 p.m. on April 19 at Central Christian Church.

The business meeting was opened by Elizabeth Schmidt, chairman, and reports were delivered by the secretary and treasurer.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE day is discussed by Betty Wilkins, left, president of Amvets Auxiliary 51, with Mayor Paul Schuler and Ann Tucker. Public Relations officer of the auxiliary, Mayor Schuler signed a proclamation for the event to be held on Friday, April 29, in local schools to coincide with the national observance.

Pledge to the Flag day is set April 29

Granite City Paul Schuler has proclaimed Friday, April 29, as Pledge of Allegiance Day, and signed a proclamation given to him by Amvets Auxiliary 51 President and Americanism Chairman, Betty Wilkins and Ann Tucker, public relations officer.

Granite City will be one of the many hundreds of cities across the nation whose grade school children will be reciting the pledge of allegiance at precisely 12:30 p.m. Central Standard time.

Throughout the country, Amvets Auxiliaries are sponsoring this Pledge of Allegiance Day Program in hopes it will promote a greater respect for the American flag by the elementary school children. This is especially important since the Pledge of Allegiance is no longer recited in the schools on a daily or regular basis, Mrs. Wilkins explained.

'Communication' is GC Unit program

Twenty-eight members and three guests were present at the April meeting of the Granite City Unit of Homemakers Extension Association held at the Nameoki Presbyterian Church.

Extension Advisor Geraldine Bower presented the major lesson on Communications and its importance in developing strong relationships.

Bernice Adams, board president, also spoke on county dues.

The business meeting was opened by Elizabeth Schmidt, chairman, and reports were delivered by the secretary and treasurer.

Whelan battles the long road to AAU meet

By STEVE WHITWORTH
of the Press-Record

Khris Whelan feels he has something to prove to a lot of people. If he fulfills his dream of wrestling for the United States Olympic team in 1984, he may prove it to the world.

The former Granite City North star was twice a wrestling All-American at the University of Missouri. But, he finished his senior season at the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship tournament in March with a fourth-place finish.

Disappointed with that showing, Whelan is now determined to finish higher than fourth when the Amateur Athletic Union decides its championships this Friday and Saturday in Madison, Wis. Whelan will represent the New York Athletic Club.

The tournament is important for Whelan, because the top three finalists in each class will qualify for the 1983 World Games, an important stepping-stone to the Olympics.

Walt Whitaker, who coached Whelan at North, said the World Games would prepare his former pupil for the greatest of international competitions. Whitaker considers the World Games to be more prestigious than the Pan-American Games.

"Khris will get more competition by trying out for the World Team," Whitaker said. "He would have a chance to wrestle people from the U.S.S.R. and the eastern European countries. Those people would be his main competition in the Olympics."

Whelan will be heading into the AAU's with some momentum, having won the United States Wrestling Federation tournament in Kansas City on April 9. He took first place in both freestyle and Greco-Roman divisions there.

He must regain the momentum that he built during 1983, when he went through the regular season undefeated. A loss in the finals of the Big Eight tournament in February and at fourth-place finish in the NCAA's in March marred the end of his college career.

Going into the NCAA tournament as the top seed at 134 pounds, Whelan was upset 13-10 in the semifinals by Rick Burton of Ohio State. Burton later lost in the wrestlingbacks and finished sixth while Whelan finished fourth.

"That tournament left a bad taste in my mouth," Whelan said. "I feel I owe myself something now."

After predictably winning his first two matches, he was in for a surprise when it came to the quarterfinal bout with Burton.

"I think I went out looking ahead to my next match," Whelan said. "I wasn't really worried about him, but he caught me at that five-point move right off the bat. From then on, I had to play catch-up."

Unhappy with his loss to Burton, Whelan won his next three matches, but was disappointed again when he lost the battle for third place in his class. He squared off with Lehigh's Pete Schuyler, an opponent he had already defeated twice during the regular season. Schuyler won the match 4-3, on what Whelan described as "a questionable call by the official."

Whelan said, "I thought I scored some points at the end of the match, but I didn't get them from the referee."

The eventual champion at 134 was Oklahoma State's Clair Anderson, who finished third to Whelan's second in the Big Eight tournament.

Missouri Coach Bob Kopnisky thought the competition at the NCAA's in the 134-pound class was extremely tough and that anyone could have won the championship.

"Khris just ran into a kid that caught him by surprise. There was a conflict in their styles and Khris lost his composure. Falling behind changed his concept of wrestling," Kopnisky said. That concept of wrestling carried Whelan to a 114-5 record in his career at North. He finished his senior season at Missouri at 31-3-1; his collegiate career record was 96-25-3. His best seasons were 1980 and 1982, in which he was named an All-American.

The 22-year-old Whelan found little place in his record, however. "I can't say I had a bad season, I was satisfied with some of it. But, I didn't really do it in the tournament. I should have won and I think a lot of people know that."

It is partly disappointment that will motivate Whelan as he works toward his ultimate goal — wrestling for the United States in the 1984 Olympic Games at Los Angeles. "My main goal is the Big O," Whelan said. "I know I can make the Olympic team, whether in freestyle or Greco-Roman."

Kopnisky agreed. "I'm biased, but I feel Khris could make it to the Olympics. He's just a great athlete. He should try all the ways he could make the team: freestyle, Greco-Roman and sambo."

Sambo is a combination of judo and wrestling. "You're allowed in sambo to tackle an opponent's legs and grab his clothing," Kopnisky said.

Versatility is Whelan's biggest advantage. Although he would prefer to make the team in freestyle, he realizes the competition will be most difficult in that area.

Whitaker said the former Steeler might have a better chance in the Greco-Roman division. "He's tough with his upper body. He has the moves and the strength to fit the stand-up style, but he's also good in freestyle and could probably make it that way, as well."

After watching him wrestle for many years, Whitaker believes Whelan has definitely improved with age. "This last year, Khris looked better than he ever did before. He had developed his skills more than ever."

Those skills were partially developed by the North coach, but it would seem Whelan inherited his potential and first began to realize it at home.

His father, Robert, wrestled for Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. "That was way back in the 1950s," Whelan said. "Dad was really my coach."

If Whelan's father was his first coach, then his older brother, Keith, was his first sparring partner. Keith also starred at North and preceded his brother to Missouri, where he earned All-American status in 1979.

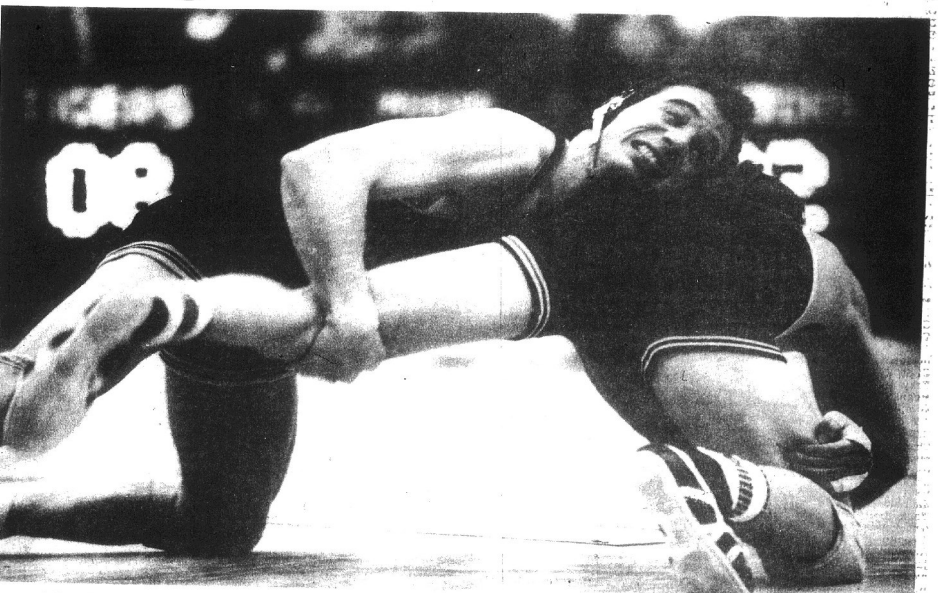

Keith's move to Columbia was the reason Khris opted to become a Tiger. "My brother and I wanted to go to school together," Khris said. "My dad liked the idea, too."

If they were happy to be schoolmates, the Whelan brothers have been less than friendly as wrestling opponents. Both Whitaker and Kopnisky found it was not a good idea to match the two against each other.

It was sometimes a mistake to put those two together in a match," Whitaker said. "It usually ended up in a fight."

Kopnisky solved the problem by keeping them apart. "It was a shame, because they could have helped each other," he said. "There was just a brotherly competitiveness between them."

This found the situation amusing. "We could never finish a match without GOING FOR THE GOLD. Khris Whelan, a 1978 graduate of Granite City North High School, was one of the top wrestlers in the nation during the 1982-83 wrestling season. Although Whelan was the top seed in the NCAA Division I wrestling tournament this one of us splitting the other's head open or something," he said, laughing. "We used to fight in the practice room at North and my dad would just let us go at it."

Keith is a different type of wrestler than I am. He's more of a brawler, while I use a slick style. Our styles complemented and we'd grab each other. If he couldn't take me down, he might smack me upside the head and that would start it."

Khris's younger brother, Matt, is continuing the Whelan wrestling tradition. Having moved to Florida with his parents, he won the state tournament there this year.

"Matt has turned out to be the biggest of the boys," Khris said. "He's already a couple of inches taller than I am. I always knew it would happen. You pick on them when they're little and then they grow up to be big enough to whip you."

Kopnisky said that Matt is a fine prospect, but that he needs some time to mature as his brothers did. Khris needed 22 years to become a mature wrestler and person.

Following a somewhat disappointing junior season at Missouri in 1981, Whelan found that he needed some time off from the wrestling grind. He left school last year and worked for a while in Danville, Ky. It was there he met a Marine recruiter and volunteered for the Marine Reserves.

Whelan explained his decision to leave school and join the Marines. "I didn't have a good season my junior year," he said. "I was hampered by injuries and I wasn't performing up to my abilities."

The enthusiasm wasn't there for me. I needed to get away from the wrestling atmosphere and come back fresh," Whelan said, noting that wrestling and going to school had become grueling for him.

Whelan consulted Whitaker while he was considering taking the break from school. "Khris was hesitant about the layoff; he thought I would be mad about it," Whitaker said. "I was a little disappointed at first, because a lot of kids do that and then don't come back. But, I think he came back as a more mature person. He was getting burned out on wrestling. But, since he's made it through the Marines, he should have no trouble finishing school."

"I was afraid of what Mr. Whitaker would say, the same as I was worried about my father," Khris said. "But, he thought it would be a good idea, if I stayed in condition."

"I have the advantage of Mr. Whitaker being like a second father to me. His house is my home away from home," Whelan added. With the help of both his "fathers," Khris was able to evaluate his prospects.

"It was kind of scary being out there in the world when all I ever really did before was wrestle," he said.

He met a Corps recruiter in a restaurant. "Sometimes I wonder why I didn't decide to join," Whelan said. "I don't mind having short hair and I figured I'd get out of basic training in year, he ended up in fourth place. This weekend, Whelan will be wrestling in the Amateur Athletic Union's tournament to determine the United States' World Games wrestling team. Whelan eventually hopes to wrestle on the United States Olympic Team in 1984.

decent shape. I guess I do a lot of things on impulse."

Whelan had no regrets about the decision. "It made me mentally tough," he said. "It was an experience I'll never forget."

Another experience Whelan is unlikely to forget is his first boxing match. "My drill instructor knew I was a wrestler and he wanted me to box for our platoon in boot camp," he said. "I'd never done it before. They paired me up with a guy who had boxed at the Golden Gloves level. He was about three inches taller than me, too."

Whelan, however, is not one to be easily intimidated. "It was a lot like a wrestling match," he said. "I went out there psyched up. I got inside and got good position. It turns out I knocked him out in about 59 seconds."

Whelan laughed at the suggestion that he might try boxing again. "I'm a little bit too old to start a new career," he said.

Finishing school is now the top priority for Whelan. He plans to work with Kopnisky and the Missouri wrestlers next year as a graduate assistant.

"He's going to make a great coach," Kopnisky said. "I've seen him work with kids at wrestling clinics and he has the ability to teach the skills he has."

Whitaker agreed. "Khris gets along with younger kids real well," he said. "Our kids like to ask his advice and he has a great rapport with them. I think coaching is probably in his future."

Whelan wants to give coaching a try before he commits himself to it as a career. "I might be able to coach, but I don't know if I have the patience to make a good teacher," he said.

"Being a graduate assistant will give me an idea of what coaching is like as a career. It's kind of scary wondering what I'll do when I quit wrestling. It seems I've done it all my life."

But, Whelan is not finished with wrestling, yet. His next goal is to make the World Games and gain experience in the type of international competition that will help him prepare for the pressure of the Olympics. "Some wrestlers fall apart when they go to another country," he said. "The political situation and atmosphere can get to you."

However, should he make the 1984 Olympic team, Whelan would have the advantage of wrestling on American soil. "Having the Russians and East Germans coming to our territory will be a different story," he said. "If I make the team, a lot of people I know will be there in Los Angeles. I would have my hometown folks supporting me."

So Whelan plans to keep working toward the goal of performing in the most renowned of sporting events. "I just want to get involved in a lot of tournaments," he said. "I can't afford to gain any weight. I need to become a wrestling bum, just going from place to place."

South's 8-run first zaps Shells

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

ROXANA Granite City South baseball coach John Modica knows that teams that jump out to big leads early tend to get sloppy in later innings and often end up struggling to maintain that lead.

That's probably why Modica wasn't ecstatic when he led his team to a 8-0 lead in the first inning of Thursday's non-conference game in Roxana. The Warriors did slack off in the later innings but held on to defeat the Shells 8-6. The game was called in the sixth inning because of darkness.

"I don't like us to jump out to an 8-0 lead or something like that in the early innings because a team gets sloppy when they have a big lead. It was good we were able to get those runs, but we have to be able to keep playing for an entire game," Modica said.

Greg Turner, Roxana's starting pitcher, and Glenn Hubbard, who took over in relief midway through the first inning, both had their problems getting the ball across the plate. When they did, the Warriors got hits.

South's second baseman Phil Dudak opened the game with a walk and lead runner. Dudak scored on pitcher Tom Newton's single. Turner then walked and catcher Vince Mitchell, left fielder Tom Admittis to force in another run.

Hubbard took over to face shortstop Randy Thurman, and Thurman greeted him with a single to drive in Mitchell and Linhart. Singles by right fielder Mark Vanyo, first baseman Tom Stegman and third baseman Darren Elmore drove in runs.

Elmore, the ninth batter up for South, was thrown out trying to stretch the lead. Hubbard faced had a hit, the Shells put in Larry Pruett to take over. Newton had his second RBI single in the inning off Pruett, but Pruett got the Shells out of the inning.

Although Newton retired the side in order in the first inning, the cold weather started to affect his pitching. Newton's control became erratic and the Shells took advantage of that in the second inning.

The Shells used the score in their favor. The Shells' leadoff hitter, David Sheikh walked and then took second on a wild pitch. Third baseman Chris Skinner walked for Roxana and scored when Larry Hinson singled to left and Linhart overthrew the cut-off man. Hinson scored on Tony Bicioach's single.

Roxana added three more runs in the third. Loren Shroat hit a single and scored on a sacrifice fly by Skinner. The weather has not been kind to the 1983 track season. Saturday's Mineral Area Meet at Belleville East was called off because of rain.

Shroat walked to open the fourth inning for the Shells and scored on Hinson's single.

Dominic Griffin took over in relief of Newton in the fifth. He struck out the first two batters he faced and got the Right fielder Terry Rujawitz then hit a single up the middle, scoring Sheikh and Tritschuh. Second baseman Kevin Patterson followed with a drive to shallow center, but Colligan of the Shells made a fine diving catch to end the Steeler threat.

It was in the top of the second that the Tigers broke the game open. They sent

Rain sets back area tracksters

Area track coaches are hoping the rain will stay away for a few weeks so that their teams run some of their track meets in.

The weather has not been kind to the 1983 track season. Saturday's Mineral Area Meet at Belleville East was called off because of rain. The Saturday meet, however, was also postponed because of bad weather.

The Belleville East Relays will be rescheduled in May, but the Mineral Area Meet will probably be cancelled. A smaller meet with some of the Mineral Area schools may be run this Saturday.

Not only have major meets like those been postponed, dual meets for the various schools in the area have also been cancelled because of the rain.

If the rainy weather continues much longer, athletes in downstate Illinois will be at a severe disadvantage in the state meet, according to Granite City North Track Coach Harry Lang.

"Many of the teams in northern Illinois have been able to get their meets in because many of those school have indoor facilities. If we can get started right away, we'll be able to catch up with them, but if we have to wait two more weeks, we're going to be behind them," Lang said.

"At this point, the bad weather is affecting everyone equally. Right now, I would say we are about three weeks behind where we should be right now," Lang said.

"We're breaking every conditioning rule in the book right now," Lang said. "You really don't know how to plan for a meet because you don't know whether it's going to rain, push back a day or cancelled."

On the other hand, Granite City South's track season has been nearly washed out so far. South's boys team has only run one track meet this season, an indoor meet in Champaign March 26, and only a few boys have managed to run up there. The girls have run two meets, but the last girls' meet was also March 26.

"We need to have a track meet soon, or our track season is going to have bad shape," South Coach Dave McClain said.

Edwardsville clobbers North

By STEVE WHITWORTH
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City North baseball team, which defeated Wood River by the 10-run rule Wednesday, allowed the Edwardsville Tigers to return the favor Thursday in a Gateway East Conference game.

Edwardsville, which defeated the Steelers 10-2 March 31, disposed of North 14-4 in five innings Thursday. North is now 2-5 overall and 0-2 in the GEC.

The Tigers relied on the pitching of lefthander David Scheibel and got RBIs from third baseman Brian Pouch as they won the game in five innings.

Scheibel had some control problems, walking four, but his teammates provided him with good defense and plenty of runs, allowing him to go the distance.

The North hurlers, however, could not seem to quiet the Tiger bats. Edwardsville scored in every inning except the fourth.

Second baseman Kevin King led off the game for the Tigers with a single off Steeler starter Ray Taknamaki. Shortstop Brian Paddock followed with a walk. One out later, King came home when catcher Dave Vieth singled. Paddock moved to third on center fielder Greg Colligan's single and scored on a ground ball by Pouch which forced Colligan at second.

The Steelers used the score in their favor. The Steelers' leadoff hitter, David Sheikh walked and then took second on a wild pitch. Third baseman

Tennis teams lose all three matches

Neither Granite City South, Granite City North nor Madison were victorious in high school tennis matches Thursday.

In a pair of Gateway East Conference matches, the Warriors lost to Belleville 6-1 in Belleville and the Steelers lost to Edwardsville 4-1 in a rain-shortened match at Edwardsville. At Cahokia, the Trojans lost their opener to the Comanches 7-0.

South's top doubles team,

John Menendez and Matt Sheridan, was the only winner at Belleville. The pair defeated Tim Gagan and Ed Abiez 6-2, 3-6, 7-5.

In singles, Menendez lost to Gagan 6-7, 6-3, 6-2. Sheridan lost to Abiez 6-3, 6-1. Robbie Lombardi lost to Steve Baskinski 6-1, 6-3, and Charlie Miles lost to Craig Lintz 6-1, 6-4.

In the other doubles matches, Lombardi and Dan Kallmeyer lost to Lantz and Tony Quinn 7-6, 6-0, and Kevin Dickerson and Jerry Laken lost to Matt Szwecyk and David Kelly 6-2, 6-2.

South is 1-2 this season and 1-1 in the GEC.

"I thought we played miserably," South Coach Richard Harmon said. "We could have been a lot better than we were."

Jesse Byrd, North's number three singles player, was the only Steeler winner against the Tigers. Byrd won the match 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

In other matches, David Lipe lost to Jim Gorman 6-4, 6-1. Keith Glasgow lost to Eric Moran 6-2, 6-0. David Goff lost to Jeff Hyten 6-4, 6-2, and the doubles team of Tony Watson and Tim Black lost to Carl Lewin and Jim Olive 6-4, 6-4.

"I thought we would have had a chance to beat this team, but we just couldn't do it," North Coach John Van Buskirk, whose Steelers sank to 0-2 and 0-1, said.

Although no Trojan won a match with the Comanches, Madison Coach Terry Beer noted the efforts of the doubles team of Chandler Terfil and William Blake, which lost to Cahokia's Tim Criter and John Holzman 6-0, 4-6, 7-6.

The others Trojans players, Allan Boyd, Debra Arnold, Darryle Shipp, and Terron Brown, and the other doubles teams were easily defeated by the more experienced Cahokia team.

The Trojans are 0-1 this season.

Dave Hoorace said.

Sharp was a halfback this season, but he played at fullback and forward at times during the season. "He could adapt very well in many different positions and was successful in fullback and forward as well as his regular position," Hoorace said.

Sharp is MVP at Greenville

LEBANON Lloyd Sharp, a 1981 graduate of Granite City South High School, was named the most valuable player for McKendree College's soccer team for the 1982 soccer season.

Last season, Sharp was the leading scorer for McKendree with seven goals and five assists. In 1982, McKendree had a 10-5-2 record and finished second to Quincy College in the NAIA state championship.

"Lloyd gave us some real depth with the team when there weren't that many substitutes. Depending on the team they were playing, he tried to use him to exploit that team's weaknesses or counter a team's strong points," McKendree Coach

Dave Hoorace said.

North, South lose GEC games

Both Granite City North and Granite City South found the going tough in girls softball as the two teams lost Gateway East Conference games last week.

North lost a 5-2 decision to Edwardsville Thursday in North's season opener at Edwardsville. On Friday, Cahokia, the defending GEC champion, defeated South 11-1 in six innings at Cahokia.

Madison's game at Dupo was postponed because of unplayable field conditions. Edwardsville pitcher Elaine Onley pitched an one-hitter, and her teammates put together eight hits and took advantage of two North errors to spoil the Steelerette's opener.

The Tigers put together five of their hits and a North error to score three runs in the third inning. Edwardsville added a run in the fourth inning and two in the fifth inning for insurance.

The Edwardsville pitcher did a pretty good job," North Coach Chris Lignou said. "Considering that we haven't had much time to practice outside against live pitching, I thought we did well. I think we'll start to come around as the weather gets better."

North's only runs came in the fifth inning. Michelle Loftus pitched out for baseball on a wild pitch. Kathy Hutchins walked and scored when Lisa Lilley reached on a fielder's choice.

Monica Fanning, the losing pitcher for North, walked two batters and gave up only two earned runs. Both of North's errors were throwing errors.

"I thought our fielding was pretty good, but we had problems throwing the ball," Lignou said. "I think our hitting will improve as we see more live pitching."

North is 0-1 overall and in the GEC.

Cahokia pounded 15 hits off South pitcher Michelle Staggis in the GEC opener for the Warriors, 0-2 this season.

The Comanches, perennially one of the better softball teams in the area, put the hits together to score three times in the second inning, twice in the third and fourth inning and four times in the sixth.

Kathy Range was 3-for-4 and Chris Jerrigan was 3-for-5 to lead the Cahokia hitting barrage. All but one Comanche had at least one hit. Kathy Juhasz was 2-for-3 for the Warriors.

Staggis scored the only run for South in the fifth inning when she hit a single and eventually scored on Bibi Christoff's single.

Sonya Rhoda was the winning pitcher for Cahokia.

Venice rebuilds baseball

By ROGER KRAMER

of the Press-Record

VENICE — Ever since the end of the 1980 baseball season, Venice High School has not fielded a baseball team. Lack of interest in the program killed the sport.

But a couple of things happened since 1980 that made it possible for Venice to reinstate the sport in 1983.

Venice joined the Illinois Gateway Conference in 1981. Athletic Director Ken Perkins has been pushing for more sports for boys and to help strengthen the conference.

However, the most important thing that happened was that Venice boys wanted to play baseball. A survey taken by the school indicated interest for the baseball team, so Chuck Mosby, a substitute teacher in the district, was chosen to rebuild the Venice baseball program.

Like many coaches responsible for building or rebuilding a program, Mosby has encountered some problems.

For instance, many of the boys who signed up for baseball didn't go out. Presently, there are at most 17 boys out for baseball. Most of the boys have not played high school baseball, and Mosby has not been a coach before.

To top things off, when Mosby tried to find uniforms for the boys who came out, he found only 10 full uniforms.

Even with all the problems of starting over, Mosby is confident Venice will have a competitive baseball team this year. "With a few chances and good luck, we'll be competitive this year," he said.

"We're going to try to be competitive. This is going to be a learning experience for both the players and the coaches. (Algie Crawford will help assist Mosby this year). We have a lot of young people out, and we think there may be a future for baseball in Venice," Mosby said.

In the infield, the Red Devils will play Wallace Dandridge, a junior, at first. Mike Hogan, a freshman at second, Larry McGhee, a junior at shortstop, Mike King, a sophomore, at third, and Dean Johnson, a senior, at catcher.

In the outfield, sopomores Robert McCallister and Jimmy Kosler, junior Richard Burnett and senior Albert Jones are looking for starting spots.

Two seniors, right-hander William Watts and left-hander John Barry, will handle the pitching duties along with Burnett.

Two other freshmen, Earl Nance and Anthony Silas, are also seeing playing time.

Although the Red Devils are thin in numbers, the word that Mosby emphasizes is competitive. At least 11 of the Red Devils have had playing experience prior to high school and that will help them in this initial season.

Davis named to All-Star team

Trina Davis, a 5-10 senior center for Granite City North's girls basketball team, has been selected to play in the McDonald's Illinois Missouri All-Star Basketball Classic April 21 at Kiel Auditorium.

The Classic is consisted of both a girls' and a boys' game. The girls' game will be played at 6:30 p.m. and the boys' game immediately follows the girls' game. Proceeds for the double-header will go to Cardinal Glennon Hospital in St. Louis.

Davis averaged 12 points a game this season for the Steelerettes and shot 49 percent from the field and 54 percent from the field goal line.

Other girls on the Illinois squad include 6-1 Amy Oberdeck of Edwardsville, 5-7 Joy Leonard of East St. Louis, 5-11 Gloria Lewis of East St. Louis, 5-9 Jody Lisch of Belleville West, 5-7 Charlotte Smith of East St. Louis, 5-5 Charlotte Smith of East St. Louis, 6-0 Annette Davenport of Alton and 5-3 Betsy Maynard of Alton.

Players like Tina Hutchinson of Lincoln and Trish Skinner of Granite City South were also considered for the all-star game, but the game is open only to seniors not in spring sports. Illinois High School Association rules prevent athletes from participating in all-star events while they are still participating in high school athletics.

Boys who will be on the Illinois team are 6-3 Rick Taylor of Alton, 6-7 Ken Copen of Belleville West, 6-7 Steve Switzer of Belleville West.

East, 5-10 Darryl Foster of Lovejoy, 6-0 Randy Goodwin of Cahokia, 6-1 David McFarland of Althoff, 6-6 Mark Dale, 6-2 Calvin Phifer and 6-3 Antonio Rhodes of Lincoln and 6-4 Chris Origliosso of Collinsville.

Ticket prices are $3 per person (in advance) and $4 at the door. Advance tickets can be purchased at Cardinal Glennon Hospital, St. Louis. For a complete list of ticket prices, call 314-577-5605. Group rates are available.

other to hit a meek grounder to him. Griffin had a few more problems in the sixth inning as he gave up two walks and a hit, but Griffin managed to pitch around those mistakes to take the save.

Although Newton and Griffin gave up only five hits to the Shells, the walks enabled Roxana to stay in the game. In all, South pitchers gave up nine walks. Undoubtedly Thursday's cold weather was partly responsible for the lack of control. It was difficult for the pitchers to grip the ball because the pitchers' hands were cold.

"The conditions out there were miserable," Modica said. "It's hard to ask a kid to go out there and play in that kind of conditions."

Nevertheless, school officials made sure the game was played. South had not played since March 29 and Roxana had not played since March 31, and the coaches wanted to get the game played. The game was moved from South, where the infield was unplayable to Roxana.

eleven batters to the plate and scored six runs. Following an error by Takman and a double by King, the first run came in on a single by left fielder Todd Hansel. Takman hit a batter and walked another to load the bases for Pouch, who responded by hitting a grand slam over the 315-foot left field fence.

The Tigers kept the pressure on, however. Paddock walked, Hansel singled and Vieth walked to load the bases again. Colligan flied out, but Pouch came up with a chance to do more damage. He earned his sixth RBI of the game with a sacrifice fly to right.

"In a way, that sacrifice fly impressed me more than his grand slam," said Tom Pile, coach of the Tigers. "He did the right thing, hitting the ball where it was pitched and sending it to the right side, so that the runners could move up."

Hansel stole home when the Steelers tried to throw out another Tiger runner at second base. Tate walked two more batters before designated hitter Mark Blythe singled in another two runs to make the score 12-2.

"We needed to play this game desperately," Modica said. "I don't like the conditions, but we have to get these games in to keep the players in condition."

Despite the field and weather conditions South is able to tolerate the Warriors are 3-1 this season, but Warriors have not played a Gateway East Conference game this season.

"I'm pleased we're able to be 3-1 so far," Modica said. "We've done better than I thought we would have so far."

Trojan boys win, girls second

MADISON — Madison's boys track team won its first meet of the year here Thursday.

The Trojans won the meet with 87 points, Columbia was second with 46 points and Highland St. Paul was third with 41 points.

The Trojanette track team, however, didn't fare as well as their male counterparts. Madison's Luvena Long's girls finished second in the triangular meet behind perennial powerhouse Columbia. Columbia racked up 76 points, while the Trojans won 34.

Madison 57 and Highland St. Paul 24.

While Madison's boys won 10 events and placed in all events to easily disposed of their opposition, the Trojanettes picked up seven first place honors.

Normally, a team which accumulates as many firsts as the Trojanettes did Thursday have little problem with winning a meet. But as Coach Long explained, it takes more than firsts to win.

"We've got the speed in the dashes and the relays to win, but because we're lacking in depth, we're not getting the second and thirds needed for a team victory," Long said.

It was Columbia's ability to get those supportive second and thirds. Long believes, which boosted them to victory.

In boys' action, the Trojans' George Leonard was a triple winner Thursday. He won the 110 high hurdles in 18.47 seconds and the 300 low hurdles in 45.5 seconds. He finished with Brian Brown, Leroy Latham and Shawn Brown to win the 440 relay in 48.0 seconds.

John Lewis was a double winner for the Trojans, winning the long jump with a leap of 19-5 1/2 and the high jump with a leap of 5-2. According to Madison Coach Charles Steptoe, Lewis is capable of jumping better, but he didn't have to jump well to win.

Other Madison winners were Shawn Brown in the 100 meters (11.6), Brian Brown in the 300 meters (25.5), Charles Fuller in the 400 meters (55.4), Brian Papa in the pole vault (9-0), and the two mile relay team of San-Howard, Maurice Silas, Deleron Young and Fuller (9:15.27).

The Trojanettes' superlative efforts in the 400 meter relay, the 800 meter relay and the mile relay included a cast of nine athletes. They include: Rose Clay, Cheri Ware, Jovanna Dillon, Jerriann Ware, Glenette Rhodes, Dorothy Nobles, McRena Banks, Linda Scott and Antoinette Compton.

With skies promising better weather in which to compete this afternoon, both of Madison's track teams will once again take to the cinders as they travel to Belleville to take on both Althoff and Mascoutah in a triangular meet. Competition begins at 4 p.m.

Q: The trend toward deregulation of the banking industry led to the introduction of the super NOW account late last year. Is there more deregulation in the offing? If so, what effect would it have?

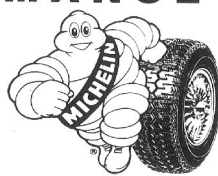

A: The Depository Institutions Deregulation Committee met early this month to consider a list of proposals to further deregulate the industry. Public comment was sought on these items. Probably the top item in that list is a proposal which requests the immediate removal of all interest rate ceilings. Most believe that is doubtful. The committee will consider several alternatives like elimination of ceilings on deposits of 91 days or more, and the extension of maximum maturity on money market deposit accounts to 91 days with the elimination of all other short-term deposits. The House Republican Research Committee has also issued a report on what it considers "outdated regulatory systems" which are seriously hurting the U.S. economy. "We, of course, do not know in which direction deregulation may move nor what the outcome may be. We'll all wait and watch."

Home burglary case dismissed after 120 days

A residential burglary charge against Jack Gallia, 31, Madison, has been dismissed due to 120 days expiring without the case being brought to trial.

The home break-in was alleged to have occurred in Madison. The charge was filed Aug. 20, 1982.

The passage of an excessive amount of time was noted this year and the allegation was dismissed in March, court records indicate.

The motion for dismissal was filed by the defendant's attorney.

Officers first found that a large window about six feet from the ground had been broken on the south side of the warehouse building. A 55-gallon steel drum and a five-gallon plastic bucket were beneath the window.

GUNS TAKEN

Guns valued at $475 were stolen from the home of Robert Donithan, 612 Margaret Ave., Mitchell. The burglary occurred last week and was reported to the Madison County Sheriff's office. Entry was gained through the back door.

While inspecting the building's exterior, a Venice officer saw someone open a door on the east side of the warehouse, run toward a storage trailer parked next to a loading dock, and hide underneath the trailer.

The youth was handcuffed and placed in a squad car. It was learned two more were inside, and a Madison officer climbed through a window to enter the warehouse when all floors were found to be locked.

The building was searched and two youths were discovered hiding behind steel barrels in a corner.

At Madison police headquarters, currency totaling $560 was found in a jacket pocket of one of the youths.

All three were taken to the Madison County Detention Home in Edwardsville after their parents were notified.

Severe future shortage of teachers likely

To the Editor:

Only about one quarter of the American people have children in school these days. It is possible that the other three-quarters don't care, or don't believe that the proper operation of the public schools has an effect on them.

A "Proposition 13" mentality seems to have permeated society in the last few years, opposing anything that requires an increase in tax funds, with the possible exception of military hardware.

Everyone, I suppose, dislikes having to pay taxes. But if paying taxes is the price we must pay to have a civilized society, as someone said, then it is necessary that we pay them.

Many, it seems, are unwilling to pay the price. It is up to our governmental leaders to see, however, that they are fair and equitable.

The State of Illinois, under the constitution which it adopted in 1970, has the primary responsibility for financing the system of public education, but it has never lived up to that mandate.

The closest it came was 48 percent of funding a few years ago, and that has dropped substantially since then.

Now, belatedly, he asks for major increases in state funding to restore essential public services, but only after they teeter on the brink of collapse.

Even if the tax increases enacted by the General Assembly, they will, alas, come too late to save the Granite City schools from their current trauma.

The public schools have been the major force in creating Americans from a mixture of cultures, races, and social classes, and now it seems we are in danger of losing them.

Certainly, President Reagan has shown callous sent time. The Jostery system was sold to the public as a source of income earmarked for public education, but the money was then put in the general fund.

Governor Thompson, by refusing to ask for income tax increases since 1969 during a period of rampant inflation, and by making major cuts in whatever appropriations the General Assembly has made to the schools, has demonstrated (his belief) that quality, or even adequate, public education is not a paramount priority in his administration.

Now, belatedly, he asks for major increases in state funding to restore essential public services, but only after they teeter on the brink of collapse.

Even if the tax increases enacted by the General Assembly, they will, alas, come too late to save the Granite City schools from their current trauma.

The public schools have been the major force in creating Americans from a mixture of cultures, races, and social classes, and now it seems we are in danger of losing them.

Certainly, President Reagan has shown callous disregard for public education by stating that the newly-created Department of Education should be dissolved, after years of effort to get education recognized as a national priority.

Also, by proposing his private school voucher system, which would further reduce the public school population, and by greatly cutting federal aid to education.

As many people are aware, there is a serious nationwide shortage of mathematics and science teachers in the public schools. Those who might otherwise have gone into teaching have been attracted to industry because of the higher wages paid by the industrial sector, and because public school teaching has enjoyed such low prestige in our society.

Now there is some talk of a national program to subsidize the training of math and science teachers, if they will agree to spend at least three years in public education.

Periodically, we hear from the federal government that we will have to do something about science and math teaching, whenever the U.S. feels it must play catch-up with other nations, as it did after the launching of Sputnik by the Soviet Union. Now they are saying the shortage will put us in a disastrous position in the future in regard to national defense preparedness and competitive industrial technology with the rest of the world.

It is suggested that not only have we neglected science and math teaching, but we have neglected the proper financing of the entire public education system.

As a result, within a few years, there will be a major shortage of public school teachers in every field, with all the implications that will hold for the education of the next generation — those who will determine the future of this great nation.

Education is a liberating, a civilizing force. But it must have the support of the taxpayers and the political leaders, from the president to the governor and all the way down.

This may have been a long public letter, but the subject matter is involved, and doesn't lend itself to simplification.

Contends Communist rules must be remembered

To the Editor:

In May of 1917 at Dusseldorf, Germany, the Allied forces obtained a copy of some of the rules for the Communist Rules for Revolution. Nearly 50 years later, the Reds are still following them: Get the young, get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial.

ON MONMOUTH DEAN'S LISTING

Scott Buhmann of Granite City was named to Dean's List for the winter term at Monmouth College.

Buchmann is a sophomore psychology and religious studies major. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Buhmann is a 1981 graduate of Granite City High School South.

To receive Dean's List recognition, a student at Monmouth must achieve a grade point average for the term of 3.0 or higher on a four-point scale while carrying a full course load.

Unions legal

On March 21, 1894, trade unions were legalized in France.

Destroy their ruggedness. Get control of all means of publicity, thereby: Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays and other trivialities.

Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance. Destroy the people's faith in their elected officials, by holding them up to contempt, ridicule and disgrace.

Always preach democracy, but seize power as ruthlessly as possible, by any means.

By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent. Incite unnecessary riots in vital industries and strikes, encourage civil disorder, foster a lenient and soft attitude towards these disorders from the government. Cause the breakdown of moral virtues, honesty, sobriety, self-restraint, faith in the pledged word. Cause the registration of firearms with the view of leaving the population helpless.

This is quite a startling list. Now stop and think how many of the above things are happening today? The actions described above and now taking place are against all the principles of what veterans of all wars fought and died for.

What can you do about this menace? Here are some suggestions:

Check records of all public servants before voting for them. Check the records of judges to be elected. Send the above information to friends, elected officials and post them at your place of employment to alert Americans. Fly support of America. Fly your flag. Wear flag pins. Encourage the news media to give more coverage to acts of Americanism. The country we save will be ours.
